17 Indicted on U.S. Charges of Seditious Plot Against Nation

Christian Front Group Named After Quiz in New York

15 OVERT ACTS

Defendants are Accused Of Trying to Overthrow Government

New York—(P)—Seventeen members of the Christian Front, arrested by federal agents three weeks ago, were indicted by a federal grand jury today for seditious conspiracy and conspiracy to commit offenses against the United States Government.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, whose agents rounded up the 17, said at the time of their arrest that they had plotted to commit acts of terrorism in the hope of establishing a dictatorship in the United States.

The indictment charged that between Jan. 1, 1939, and Jan. 15, 1940, the defendants conspired among themselves and with other persons unknown "to overthrow, put down and destroy by force, the government of the United States and did unlawfully and knowingly, and feloniously conspire, plan, combine, confederate and agree together and with each other and with divers other persons to the grand jurors unknown . . . to seize, take and possess property of the United States . . . contrary to the United States code."

Arms Plot Charged

The indictment further alleged that the defendants, who were active members in control of an organization known as the action committee and other organizations, would "influence and incite" others to join with them in bringing about the overthrow of the government.

The indictment alleged that the defendants conspired to obtain explosives and other weapons and military equipment to further their aims.

It also charged that the various members "recruited and enlisted, armed, equipped and gave military training, fire arms training, and instruction in terroristic methods" in order to bring about their purpose.

Nature of Charges

It was alleged that the members conspired to steal personal property of the United States, such as ammunition and explosives.

Fifteen overt acts were charged in the indictment. Among them, Defendant John F. Cook was accused of drawing a floor plan of the headquarters of the Second battalion of the naval militia.

Another overt act charged was that Macklin Boettger carried a quantity of ammunition belonging to the United States into the borough of Brooklyn.

Another overt act charged that William Gerald Bishop and John A. Vierbroeck stole a quantity of ammunition belonging to the United States from the 15th Regiment armory in Manhattan.

United States Attorney Harold M. Kennedy of Brooklyn explained that prior to the filing of the complaint the P. B. I. had conducted an investigation into the activities and that the indictment was based on the evidence produced by the agency.

Michigan Governor Confined to His Home

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—A severe cold confined Governor Luren D. Dickinson today to his farm home near Charlotte.

Dr. H. A. Moyer, state health commissioner and Dickinson's personal physician, said the governor's condition was not serious but that "I just thought it better that he stay at home and take care of himself for a day or two."

Dickinson, who is 80 years old, has been warned by Dr. Moyer repeatedly to protect his health carefully and not to overtax his strength.

It's An Old Southern Custom

Foreigners are always accusing us of being a nation of cold, unimaginative people. But here is definite proof of an extremely romantic, sentimental streak in us. At any rate the good pioneer fathers who named our fair cities must have had their moments.

Beating out this contention are Lulu, Georgia; Lucille, Kentucky; Venita, Oklahoma; Mame, Ky.; Lottie and Louise, Miss., and scores of other towns.

East, West, North or South, you'll find the want ads always ready to help you buy, sell, rent, trade and perform all the other duties for which they are known.

PELLEY SEES CONTROVERSIAL LETTER

David Mayne (seated), whom the Dies committee said admitted forging letters purportedly linking Chairman Martin Dies to William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader, is shown in Washington looking over one of the letters bearing the signature "Pelley" at a house rules sub-committee hearing. Looking over his shoulder is Pelley, who said he had neither written nor signed the letters.

British Officials on Guard Against New Violence After 2 I.R.A. Members are Hanged

Birmingham, England—(P)—Two members of the outlawed Irish republican army died on the gallows today in bleak, fogshrouded Winton Green, and Great Britain waited vigilantly for the reaction of Irish nationalists.

As a clock chimed nine, the hour of doom, those in a throng outside the prison bared their heads in the chill mist. There was no sign of a demonstration.

Silently the crowd watched when, seven minutes later, a prison official tacked up notices of the execution on a small door in the center of the prison gate. The notices disclosed that the men, James Richards, 29, and Peter Barnes, 32, went to death at the same moment.

Thousands of police reinforcements were held on overtime duty in London and other large cities on the possibility that the execution might signal a new outburst of terrorism.

Extra guards had patrolled the prison grounds and Birmingham police the nearby streets to block any attempt at delivery of the condemned men.

First I. R. A. Executions

There was the first civil trial and execution of Irish republican extremists since the 1867 hanging of three men for the killing of a Manchester police sergeant.

There also were the first death sentences handed down since the I.R.A.—outlawed in Great Britain and Ireland—began its violent campaign a little more than a year ago for the avowed purpose of "driving the British out of Ireland."

The I.R.A. wants a union between Ireland (Eire) and Northern Ireland (Ulster), which as a part of the British United Kingdom pays fealty to the British crown.

Authorities were confronted, above all, with the possibility of a renewal of time-bomb explosions such as thundered yesterday at London's Euston railway station and at post offices in Birmingham and Manchester when it appeared all vanished.

Seven Are Injured

Five persons, postal employees, were injured at London and two at Birmingham in yesterday's renewal of a sporadic, year-long campaign of terrorism attributed to the I.R.A.

In the last year, time-bombs have been planted or sent through the mails to burst in public places—particularly railway stations and post offices—in power stations and under bridges.

The bomb which Barnes and Richards were convicted of planting burst in the case of a tradesman's delivery bicycle as it stood along the curb at Coventry, a manufacturing center north of London. Five persons were blown to pieces. That was Aug. 23.

Barnes and Richards were convicted of murder in connection with one of the deaths—Miss Elsie Ansell, a shop assistant.

He further pointed out that the increase in the market value of the two trusts from 1929 to 1933 constituted corpus and not income and therefore was not subject to income tax payments.

1,500 Russians Are Killed in North Finland

Helsinki Report Says Invaders Fail in Repeated Efforts to Advance

HEAVY FIGHTING

Finns Fear Attempt to Drop Many Reds From Planes Far Behind Lines

Helsinki—(P)—Today's Finnish army communique stated the Russians had lost 1,500 dead in the last few days in fighting at Kuhmo in north Finland, where the invaders have been making repeated efforts to advance.

Northeast of Lake Ladoga, the Finns said, the defenders dispersed an entire Russian ski battalion, killing 300 men.

On the Karelian isthmus, said the communique, the Russians failed yesterday in attempts to carry infantry troops into battle on sleds drawn by tanks. The Finns said they destroyed or put out of action 20 tanks during the day.

The Russians were reported to have attacked between Hatjalahti and Summa, with all attempts unsuccessful.

In air fighting, the Finns said they shot down six red planes and one barrage balloon.

The nightmare possibility of attacks by parachuting machine-gunners, loosed far behind the lines, was advanced today as the Finns noted mysterious scouting activities by Soviet Russian planes over territory suitable to such a "Martian" maneuver.

Previous Attempts Fail

The Finns have reported the scotching of previous attempts on a small scale by marksmen who killed the parachutists in the air.

If great numbers should be dropped, however, it was said they might prove troublesome to the rear lines of the Karelian isthmus defenses and divert Finnish troops from the southeastern fronts where they have been holding the Russians at bay since the invasion began Nov. 30.

Some military observers believed the Russians might try to drop sizable detachments on the stretches of ice in this wild countryside where the chances of landing alive would be enhanced.

Couriers from the Karelian isthmus front said Russian infantry was massed heavily in the Summa sector, 20 miles southeast of Viipuri, and that, due to inadequate shelter, the troops were forced to build open fires which served as beacons for the night-flying Finns.

Rules Two Trust Funds Tax Free

Judge Hughes Reverses Commission Decision in Mahler Case

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh—The judgment of the Wisconsin Tax commission, holding that two $20,000 trusts set up for Mrs. Ernest Mahler, Neenah, were subject to income tax payments, was set aside by Circuit Court Judge Henry P. Hughes here Tuesday. The trusts were created in 1929 by Ernest Mahler and matured in 1932 and 1934.

In overruling the tax commission, Judge Hughes said: "It appears to the court that the commission was straining to garner taxes and concluded by calling the distribution income it would make it such."

He further pointed out that the increase in the market value of the two trusts from 1929 to 1933 constituted corpus and not income and therefore was not subject to income tax payments.

The trusts increased in market value approximately $33,000 during the period 1929 to 1933. The assessor of incomes assessed this increase as income and the Wisconsin Tax commission later reversed the decision of the board of review and the matter was appealed to circuit court where the case was heard before Judge Hughes, Dec. 27 and 1934.

NAMED MINISTER

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt sent to the senate today the nomination of George H. Earle (above), former governor of Pennsylvania, to be minister to Bulgaria. He also nominated David Gray of Florida to be minister to Ireland and Louis G. Dreyfus, Jr., of California, now minister to Iran, to be minister also to Afghanistan.

Carl J. Becher, City Clerk, Will Not be Candidate

Announces Retirement From City Post to Work at Profession

Carl J. Becher, city clerk, today announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection to the city clerk's post in the primary election.

Becher, who is a certified public accountant, said he is retiring from the city post to work exclusively at his profession. The clerk, who also served as city comptroller ever since the office was created, has been clerk for the last 12 years.

His retirement leaves the city clerk race for nomination in the primary wide open. A number of candidates have been mentioned as possible aspirants to the job.

Sylvester G. Elser, 416 W. Parkway boulevard, today took out nomination papers for the county board position in the Sixth ward. Elser is a former Kaukauna supervisor. His candidacy makes it a 3-way race in that ward. Other candidates are Henry Vandichey, 1828 N. Appleton street, and Leslie Gebheim, 1719 N. Alvin street. The incumbent, Frank Kositzke, 1515 N. Clark street, has not taken out papers for the job to date.

Nomination papers for city positions and county board jobs must be filed at the office of the city clerk by Feb. 21. The primary election will be March 12 and the spring election, April 2.

Fleeing Robber Is Slain After Raid at Chicago Night Club

Chicago—(P)—A man identified through his fingerprints as Joseph Rykowski 23 alias Jack Howard of St. Louis was shot and killed by police early today while fleeing from a $50 holdup at a near northside night club.

Policeman William Lundy, one of three officers who exchanged shots with the man, was wounded in the right arm. He was taken to a hospital.

The other officers, William Barcal and Thomas Shivenanc, were not injured.

In his escape attempt, the robber boarded one street car, then transferred to another and terrorized 20 passengers as he fled out the windows at the policemen who had taken up the chase in a squad car.

Harry Butt, motorman, stopped the car when he heard the firing. The robber jumped out, exchanged several shots with the officers, and ran about 50 feet into an alley before he fell dead.

Milwaukee Youth Who Shot Girl Still Lives

Milwaukee—(P)—A bullet hole in his temple, Harry S. Christiansen, 21, continued to battle for life today at Emergency hospital where he was brought Monday after killing the police said, a young man who had rejected his love.

Detective Captain Adolph Kraemer said the youth shot Melvred Beil, pretty graduate nurse, as she sat in a drugstore booth and then turned his revolver on himself as horrified customers looked on.

Authorities were informed by Miss Beil's stepfather Louis Johnson of the suburban Wauwatosa police, that the girl told Christiansen she did not love him when he offered her a fine two weeks ago.

Christiansen received a blood transfusion yesterday.

Lewis Lashes At A.F.L. Move To Change Law

Charges Corporation Lawyers Helped Draft Proposed Amendments

SAYS HE HAS 'PROOF'

Declares Federation Attorneys Called 'Secret Conferences'

Miami, Fla.—(P)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today challenged John L. Lewis, C.I.O. leader, to prove statements made before the senate labor committee charging that the federation's proposed amendments to the Wagner act were prepared with the aid of attorneys for "reactionary and anti-labor" corporations.

"Lewis made a similar statement before the committee a year ago," said Green, "and I answered it before that same committee and at the same time challenged him to present one iota of truth."

"Here it is. It is a mountain laboring and bringing forth a mouse. Lewis himself couldn't prove his own statement."

Washington—(P)—John L. Lewis offered "documentary proof" to the senate labor committee today that A. F. of L. proposals to amend the Wagner act were prepared with the aid of attorneys for "reactionary and anti-labor" corporations.

The C. I. O. leader's exhibit appeared in a long statement presented by Philip Murray, C. I. O. vice president.

It charged that Joseph A. Padway, A. F. of L. general counsel, prepared the federation's amendments after a "series of secret conferences" with Gilbert H. Montague of New York, Earl Reed of Pittsburgh, and Earnest S. Ballard of Chicago.

The three attorneys were described by Lewis as representatives of "many corporations which have been the most flagrant and notorious violators of the national labor relations act."

Lewis listed 14 companies which he said were represented by Montague, Reed and Ballard and added:

Racine City Council Gets Proposal for Tax on All Salaries

Racine—(P)—The city council received last night a proposed ordinance which would levy a tax on "all salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation" earned by Racine residents or earned here by non-residents and on the net incomes of Racine businesses and professions.

The Wisconsin Home and Property Owners association, a local organization, made the proposal. The council decided to sit as a committee of the whole in studying it.

Albert Jensen, chairman of the association's planning committee, said the organization would urge a tax rate of 1 1/2 per cent. It would be used to reduce the general property tax.

The association's plan provides monthly collection of the tax through employers. The businesses and professions would pay their taxes quarterly.

Says Ouster of Reds Won't End Problems

Washington—(P)—A Youth Congress leader wrote John D. M. Hamilton today that expulsion of the congress "fractional number of young Communists" would not solve "the very fundamental problems facing the young people of this country."

Hamilton as chairman of the Republican national committee, had refused to designate a session of the congress, unless it is purged of "communist" elements.

To the Joseph Cadden, executive secretary of the congress, replied: "My first reaction to your letter was to recall that a decade ago your party was handing out red apples to youth; now we find you handing out red scares. Neither procedure seems to cope with the very fundamental problems which are facing the young people of this country and which we hoped a representative of your party would discuss with us."

Senate Committee for Loans to Finns, China

Washington—(P)—The senate foreign relations committee approved today an increase of $100,000 in the capital of the Export-Import bank in order to provide additional loans of $20,000,000 each for Finland and China.

The committee vote was 12 to 6. Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) said the senate would consider the legislation tomorrow.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the committee said the bill was amended to provide that additional loans of $20,000,000 may be made to any one country Finland already has obtained a $10,000,000 advance and China has received $25,000,000 of which more than $2,000,000 has been repaid.

Want Courts to Pass on Orders Of U.S. Bureaus

Garner Actively Aligns Self With Economy Forces

Reported Ready to Oppose Increases, Favor All Possible Cuts

Washington—(P)—Vice President Garner actively aligned himself today with the economy forces in the senate, some of his friends disclosed by a pledge to oppose any suggested increases in appropriations and to vote for decreases whenever possible.

Following his vote to break a senate tie yesterday and thus cut $115,239 off the amount the house approved for the civil aeronautics authority, Garner was quoted by some senators as having told them:

"When it comes to voting to reduce appropriations, I am going to vote 'aye' and when it comes to increasing appropriations, I am going to vote 'no'."

Garner's vote—his first since April 17, 1934—revived the economy drive which had suffered a reverse earlier when the senate overrode an effort by Senator Overton (D-La.) to trim from the $1,138,693,528 supply bill for independent agencies an item of $710,000 for the national resources planning board.

Ready to Vote 'Aye'

The count of the Overton amendment appeared at first to be 34 to 34. The vice president, permitted to vote only in the event of a tie, told friends afterward that he was preparing to vote "aye" to carry the amendment when Senator Stewart (D-Tenn.) walked into the chamber and voted "no" to clinch its defeat.

Economy advocates said that the independent agencies bill likely would be passed at a figure $38,506,291 higher than that authorized by the house, but still $56,010,945 under President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

The senate completed action yesterday on the first of the appropriation bills, sending to the president a $7,541,300 deficiency bill which included about $29,000,000 for naval armaments and about the same amount for tax refunds. It was $2,783,700 below the president's recommendations.

Arnold in Attack On Oil Companies

Sees Effort to Revive NRA but Without Governmental Control

Washington—(P)—Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust enforcement, told the supreme court yesterday that an effort by midwestern oil companies to raise prices constituted "an attempt to set up the NRA again without control."

Speaking vigorously, Arnold said that "industries all over the country are watching this case to see if some new defense of fair trade is going to come out which will entitle them to stabilize prices at the levels which they think normal."

He added that "practically every industry in this country is on a surplus basis," and that if the oil companies could raise prices by agreement the other industries would follow the same procedure.

"This case," he shouted, "represents the most dangerous threat to the enforcement of the anti-trust laws ever seriously presented to this court."

Arnold argued after William J. Donovan, counsel for the oil companies, had contended that they had engaged only "in a voluntary cooperative effort" to remove a "competitive evil—distress gasoline."

The federal district court at Madison, Wis., convicted 12 major companies and five individuals of conspiracy, in violation of the Sherman act, to raise the price of gasoline sold in 1935-1936 in ten midwestern states. The seventh federal court set aside the convictions and ordered a new trial. The oil companies appealed to the supreme court to dismiss the government's suit.

Sentenced to Eight From New York Subway

New York—(P)—Edward J. Rigney, 37, former maintenance man on the independent subway system, convicted of grand larceny in connection with the theft of $25,000 from the subway's turnstiles, was sentenced today to two and a half to five years in prison.

Rigney was the first person to be sentenced in connection with the thefts. Twenty-eight former employees who pleaded guilty are awaiting sentence. The state alleged, during Rigney's trial, that $100,000 was stolen between January, 1933, and July, 1937.

The thefts were accomplished by turning back the meters on the turnstiles which record the number of dropped nickels.

House Committee Would Subject Regulations to Review

UNANIMOUS O. K.

Group Reports There are 130 Different Federal Agencies

Washington—(P)—Legislation to subject the order and regulations of all federal bureaus to the review of the courts—a kind of proposal which drew criticism from some administration senators a year ago—was cleared to the house today by the unanimous action of its rules committee.

At the same time the house received a report on the measure from the judiciary committee which said that there are approximately 130 different federal agencies in the government, and added:

"The law must provide that the governors shall be governed and the regulators shall be regulated, if our present form of government is to endure."

"The phenomenon of the administrative officers and employees—the so-called bureaucracy—attempting to control all processes of government for their selfish ends is not new in either this country or in the history of the world."

Passed Last Session

Similar legislation was passed by the senate last session but was called back for reconsideration as the result of protests by Senator Alton (D-Ind.) and other administration supporters.

Other developments of the day at the capital included:

Announcement by acting Chairman Starnes (D-Ala.) that the Dies committee would meet immediately, in open session, to question William Dudley Pelley about his activities of the Silver Shirt legion. Pelley showed up suddenly yesterday after committee representatives had hunted him for months.

A statement by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination that he would not enter the Illinois preference primary April 9 because the results of the voting will be "merely advisory under the Illinois law" and because "I cannot possibly be away from the senate for the time necessary" to make a campaign.

Election by the house of Representative Rayburn of Texas, the Democratic leader, as speaker pro tempore during the illness of Speaker Bankhead, who is suffering from a slight attack of influenza.

Counter-Espionage Agent Slain When Package Explodes

Lausanne, Switzerland—(P)—A Swiss counter-espionage agent was killed and another detective and a German were injured severely today by the explosion of a package which the German brought into the Lausanne police headquarters.

Detectives said the German apparently was slotted as the victim in an espionage ring's setting of accounts.

The German, whose name was not disclosed, dashed into the police station with the package and said it had been delivered at his hotel by a messenger.

"I think it is a bomb," he was quoted.

Inspector Arnold Jacoud, active in counter-espionage work, took the package to deliver to a police chemist, but it exploded while the German was speaking.

Jacoud was killed. Police Brigadier Samuel Clot and the German suffered severe injuries, and a score of police employees suffered minor injuries when the blast knocked them down.

The interior of the building was damaged badly.

Finnish War Saves Man From Deportation

St. Paul—(P)—War in his native Finland saved William Kumpulainen, 53, from deportation and gave him a fresh start in America.

Last fall, Kumpulainen, serving a life term in prison for a robbery in which his partner killed a storekeeper, won commutation of his sentence to Jan. 13, 1940, upon condition that he return to Finland.

Then Russia invaded Finland and when Jan. 13 arrived, the state board of pardons put off his release to think about the new situation. Yesterday, it decided to free Kumpulainen, allowing him to stay in Minnesota with friends.

House Won't Withhold Salary of Ambassador

Washington—(P)—The house refused today to withhold money intended to pay the salary of an ambassador to Moscow.

It turned down, 108 to 105 on a teller vote, a proposal to eliminate that item from an appropriation bill—the first of several proposals planned by a group seeking to shut off this country's diplomatic relations with Russia.

Representative McCormack (D-Mass.), who offered the defeated motion, served notice that he had another, and similar one, to present.

17 Indicted on U.S. Charges of Seditious Plot Against Nation

Christian Front Group Named After Quiz in New York

15 OVERT ACTS

Defendants are Accused of Trying to Overthrow Government

New York (AP)—Seventeen members of the Christian Front, arrested by federal agents three weeks ago, were indicted by a federal grand jury today for seditious conspiracy and conspiracy to commit offenses against the United States government.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, whose agents rounded up the 17, said at the time of their arrest that they had plotted to commit acts of terrorism in the hope of establishing a dictatorship in the United States.

The indictment charged that between Jan. 1, 1939, and Jan. 15, 1940, the defendants conspired among themselves and with other persons unknown "to overthrow, put down and destroy by force, the government of the United States and did wilfully and unlawfully, knowingly and feloniously conspire, plan, combine, confederate and agree together and with each other and with divers other persons to the grand jurors unknown . . . to seize, take and possess property of the United States . . . contrary to the United States code."

Arms Plot Charged
The indictment further alleged that the defendants, who were active members in control of an organization known as the action committee and other organizations, would "influence and incite" others to join with them in bringing about the overthrow of the government.

The indictment alleged that the defendants conspired to obtain explosives and other weapons and military equipment to further their aims.

It also charged that the various members "recruited and enlisted, armed, equipped and gave military training, fire arms training, and instruction in terroristic methods" in order to bring about their purpose.

Nature of Charges
It was alleged that the members conspired to steal personal property of the United States, such as ammunition and explosives.

Fifteen overt acts were charged in the indictment. Among them, Defendant John F. Cook was accused of drawing a floor plan of the headquarters of the Second battalion of the naval militia.

Another overt act charged was that Macklin Boettger carried a quantity of ammunition belonging to the United States into the borough of Brooklyn.

PELLEY SEES CONTROVERSIAL LETTER

David Mayne (seated), whom the Dies committee said admitted forging letters purportedly linking Chairman Martin Dies to William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader, is shown in Washington looking over one of the letters bearing the signature "Pelley" at a house rules sub-committee hearing. Looking over his shoulder is Pelley, who said he had neither written nor signed the letters.

British Officials on Guard Against New Violence After 2 I.R.A. Members are Hanged

Birmingham, England (AP)—Two members of the outlawed Irish republican army died on the gallows today in bleak, fogshrouded Winton Green gaol, and Great Britain waited vigilantly for the reaction of Irish nationalists.

As a clock chimed nine, the hour of doom, those in a throng outside the prison bared their heads in the chill mist. There was no sign of a demonstration.

Silently the crowd watched when, seven minutes later, a prison official tacked up notices of the execution on a small door in the center of the prison gate. The notices disclosed that the men, James Richards, 29, and Peter Barnes, 32, went to death at the same moment.

Thousands of police reinforcements were held on overtime duty in London and other large cities on the possibility that the execution might signal a new outburst of terrorism.

Extra guards had patrolled the prison grounds and Birmingham police the nearby streets to block any attempt at delivery of the condemned men.

First I. R. A. Executions
There was the first civil trial and execution of Irish republican extremists since the 1867 hanging of three men for the killing of a Manchester police sergeant.

There also were the first death sentences handed down since the I.R.A.—outlawed in Great Britain and Ireland—began its violent campaign a little more than a year ago for the avowed purpose of "driving the British out of Ireland."

The I.R.A. wants a union between Ireland (Eire) and Northern Ireland (Ulster), which as a part of the British United Kingdom pays fealty to the British crown.

Authorities were confronted, above all, with the possibility of a renewal of time-bomb explosions such as thundered yesterday at London's Euston railway station and at post offices in Birmingham and Manchester when it appeared all chance of escape from the noose had vanished.

Seven Are Injured
Five persons, postal employees, were injured at London and two at Birmingham in yesterday's renewal of a sporadic, year-long campaign of terrorism attributed to the I.R.A.

In the last year, time-bombs have been planted or sent through the mails to burst in public places, particularly railway stations and post offices—in power stations and under bridges.

The bomb which Barnes and Richards were convicted of planting burst in the crate of a tradesman's delivery truck as it stood along the curb at Coventry, a manufacturing center north of London. Five persons were blown to pieces. That was Aug. 23.

1,500 Russians Are Killed in North Finland

Helsinki Report Says Invaders Fail in Repeated Efforts to Advance

HEAVY FIGHTING

Finns Fear Attempt to Drop Many Reds From Planes Far Behind Lines

Helsinki (AP)—Today's Finnish army communique stated the Russians had lost 1,500 dead in the last few days in fighting at Kuhmo in north Finland, where the invaders have been making repeated efforts to advance.

Northeast of Lake Ladoga, the Finns said, the defenders dispersed an entire Russian ski battalion, killing 300 men.

On the Karelian isthmus, said the communique, the Russians failed yesterday in attempts to carry infantry troops into battle on sleds drawn by tanks. The Finns said they destroyed or put out of action 20 tanks during the day.

The Russians were reported to have attacked between Hatjalampi and Summa, with all attempts unsuccessful.

In air fighting, the Finns said they shot down six red planes and one barrage balloon.

The nightmare possibility of attacks by parachuting machine-guns, loosed far behind the lines, was advanced today as the Finns noted mysterious scouting activities by Soviet Russian planes over territory suitable to such a "Martian" maneuver.

Previous Attempts Fail
The Finns have reported the scotching of previous attempts on a small scale by marksmen who killed the parachutists in the air.

If great numbers should be dropped, however, it was said they might prove troublesome to the rear lines of the Karelian isthmus defenses and divert Finnish troops from the southeastern fronts where they have been holding the Russians at bay since the invasion began Nov. 30.

Some military observers believed the Russians might try to drop sizable detachments on the stretches of ice in this wild countryside where the chances of landing alive would be enhanced.

Couriers from the Karelian isthmus front said Russian infantry was massed heavily in the Summa sector, 20 miles southeast of Viipuri, and that, due to inadequate shelter, the troops were forced to build open fires which served as beacons for the night-flying Finns.

Rules Two Trust Funds Tax Free
Judge Hughes Reverses Commission Decision in Mahler Case

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh (AP)—The judgment of the Wisconsin Tax commission, holding that two $20,000 trusts set up for Mrs. Ernest Mahler, Neenah, were subject to income tax payments, was set aside by Circuit Court Judge Henry P. Hughes here Tuesday.

The trusts were created in 1929 by Ernest Mahler and matured in 1932 and 1934.

In overruling the tax commission, Judge Hughes said: "It appears to the court that the commission was straining to garner taxes and concluded by calling the distribution income it would make it such."

He further pointed out that the increase in the market value of the two trusts from 1929 to 1933 constituted corpus and not income and therefore was not subject to income tax payments.

The trusts increased in market value approximately $33,000 during the period 1929 to 1933. The assessor of incomes assessed this increase as income and the Wisconsin Tax commission later reversed the decision of the board of review and the matter was appealed to circuit court where the case was heard before Judge Hughes, Dec. 27.

NAMED MINISTER

Washington (AP)—President Roosevelt sent to the senate today the nomination of George H. Earle (above), former governor of Pennsylvania, to be minister to Bulgaria. He also nominated David Gray of Florida to be minister to Ireland and Louis G. Dryfus, Jr., of California, now minister to Iran, to be minister also to Afghanistan.

Carl J. Becher, City Clerk, Will Not be Candidate

Announces Retirement From City Post to Work at Profession

Carl J. Becher, city clerk, today announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection to the city clerk's post in the primary election.

Becher, who is a certified public accountant, said he is retiring from the city post to work exclusively at his profession. The clerk, who also served as city comptroller ever since the office was created, has been clerk for the last 12 years.

His retirement leaves the city clerk race for nomination in the primary wide open. A number of candidates have been mentioned as possible aspirants to the job.

Sylvester G. Elser, 416 W. Parkway boulevard, today took out nomination papers for the county board position in the Sixth ward. Elser is a former Kaukauna supervisor. His candidacy makes it a 3-way race in that ward. Other candidates are Henry Vandehoe, 1828 N. Appleton street, and Leslie Gebheim, 1719 N. Alvin street. The incumbent, Frank Kostusz, 1515 N. Clark street, has not taken out papers for the job to date.

Nomination papers for city positions and county board jobs must be filed at the office of the city clerk by Feb. 21. The primary election will be March 12 and the spring election, April 2.

Fleeing Robber Is Slain After Raid at Chicago Night Club

Chicago (AP)—A man identified through his fingerprints as Joseph Rynkowski 33 alias Jack Howard of St. Louis was shot and killed by police early today while fleeing from a $50 holdup at a near northside night club.

Policeman William Lundy, one of three officers who exchanged shots with the man, was wounded in the right arm. He was taken to a hospital.

The other officers, William Barcal and Thomas Shivenane, were not injured.

In his escape attempt, the robber boarded one street car, then transferred to another and terrorized 20 passengers as he fled out the windows at the policemen who had taken up the chase in a squad car.

Harry Butt, motorman, stopped the car when he heard the firing. The robber jumped off, exchanged several shots with the officers, and ran about 50 feet into an alley before he fell dead.

Detective Captain Adolph Kraemer said the youth shot Mildred Beil, pretty graduate nurse, as she sat in a drugstore booth and then turned his revolver on himself as horrified customers looked on.

Lewis Lashes At A.F.L. Move To Change Law

Charges Corporation Lawyers Helped Draft Proposed Amendments

SAYS HE HAS 'PROOF'

Declares Federation Attorneys Called 'Secret Conferences'

Miami, Fla. (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today challenged John L. Lewis, C.I.O. leader, to prove statements made before the senate labor committee charging that the federation's proposed amendments to the Wagner act were prepared with the aid of attorneys for "reactionary and anti-labor" corporations.

"Lewis made a similar statement before the committee a year ago," said Green, "and I answered it before that same committee and at the same time challenged him to present one iota of truth."

"Here it is. It is a mountain laboring and bringing forth a mouse. Lewis himself couldn't prove his own statement."

Washington (AP)—John L. Lewis offered "documentary proof" to the senate labor committee today that A. F. of L. proposals to amend the Wagner act were prepared with the aid of attorneys for "reactionary and anti-labor" corporations.

The C. I. O. leader's exhibit appeared in a long statement presented by Philip Murray, C. I. O. vice president.

It charged that Joseph A. Padway, A. F. of L. general counsel, prepared the federation's amendments after a "series of secret conferences" with Gilbert H. Montague of New York, Earl Reed of Pittsburgh, and Earnest S. Ballard of Chicago.

The three attorneys were described by Lewis as representatives of "many corporations which have been the most flagrant and notorious violators of the national labor relations act."

Lewis listed 14 companies which he said were represented by Montague, Reed and Ballard and added: "These corporations have been the most flagrant and notorious violators of the national labor relations act."

Racine City Council Gets Proposal for Tax on All Salaries

Racine (AP)—The city council received last night a proposed ordinance which would levy a tax on "all salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation" earned by Racine residents or earned here by non-residents and on the net incomes of Racine businesses and professions.

The Wisconsin Home and Property Owners association, a local organization, made the proposal. The council decided to sit as a committee of the whole in studying it.

Albert Jensen, chairman of the association's planning committee, said the organization would urge a tax rate of 1 per cent. It would be used to reduce the general property tax.

The association's plan provides monthly collection of the tax through employers. The businesses and professions would pay their taxes quarterly.

Says Ouster of Reds Won't End Problems
Washington (AP)—A Youth Congress leader wrote John D. M. Hamilton today that expulsion of the congress "fractional number of young Communists" would not solve "the very fundamental problems facing the young people of this country."

Hamilton, as chairman of the Republican national committee, had refused to designate a Republican to attend forthcoming sessions of the congress, unless it is purged of "communist" elements.

Want Courts to Pass on Orders Of U.S. Bureaus

Garner Actively Aligns Self With Economy Forces

Reported Ready to Oppose Increases, Favor All Possible Cuts

Washington (AP)—Vice President Garner actively aligned himself today with the economy forces in the senate, some of his friends disclosed by a pledge to oppose any suggested increases in appropriations and to vote for decreases whenever possible.

Following his vote to break a senate tie yesterday and thus cut $115,259 off the amount the house approved for the civil aeronautics authority, Garner was quoted by some senators as having told them:

"When it comes to voting to reduce appropriations, I am going to vote 'aye' and when it comes to increasing appropriations, I am going to vote 'no.'"

Garner's vote—his first since April 17, 1934—revived the economy drive which had suffered a reverse earlier when the senate overrode an effort by Senator Overton (D-La.) to trim from the $1,138,693,528 supply bill for independent agencies an item of $710,000 for the national resources planning board.

Ready to Vote 'Aye'
The count of the Overton amendment appeared at first to be 34 to 34. The vice president, permitted to vote only in the event of a tie, told friends afterward that he was preparing to vote "aye" to carry the amendment when Senator Stewart (D-Tenn.) walked into the chamber and voted "no" to clinch its defeat.

Economy advocates said that the independent agencies bill likely would be passed at a figure $38,506,261 higher than that authorized by the house, but still $56,010,945 under President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

The senate completed action yesterday on the first of the appropriation bills, sending to the president a $57,541,300 deficiency bill which included about $29,000,000 for naval armaments and about the same amount for tax refunds. It was $2,783,700 below the president's recommendations.

Arnold in Attack On Oil Companies

Sees Effort to Revive NRA but Without Governmental Control

Washington (AP)—Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust enforcement, told the supreme court yesterday that an effort by midwestern oil companies to raise prices constituted "an attempt to set up the NRA again without control."

Speaking vigorously, Arnold said that "industries all over the country are watching this case to see if some new defense of fair trade is going to come out which will entitle them to stabilize prices at the levels which they think normal."

He added that "practically every industry in this country is on a surplus basis," and that if the oil companies could raise prices by agreement the other industries would follow the same procedure.

"This case," he shouted, "represents the most dangerous threat to the enforcement of the anti-trust laws ever seriously presented to this court."

Arnold argued after William J. Donovan, counsel for the oil companies, had contended that they had engaged only "in a voluntary cooperative effort" to remove a "competitive civil-distress gasoline."

The federal district court at Madison, Wis., convicted 12 major companies and five individuals of conspiracy, in violation of the Sherman act, to raise the price of gasoline sold in 1935-1936 in ten midwestern states. The seventh federal court set aside the convictions and ordered a new trial. The oil companies appealed to the supreme court to dismiss the government's suit.

House Committee Would Subject Regulations to Review

UNANIMOUS O. K.

Group Reports There are 130 Different Federal Agencies

Washington (AP)—Legislation to subject the order and regulations of all federal bureaus to the review of the courts—a kind of proposal which drew criticism from some administration senators a year ago—was cleared to the house today by the unanimous action of its rules committee.

At the same time the house received a report on the measure from the judiciary committee which said that there are approximately 130 different federal agencies in the government, and added:

"The law must provide that the governors shall be governed and the regulators shall be regulated, if our present form of government is to endure."

"The phenomenon of the administrative agencies and employees—the so-called bureaucracy—attempting to control all processes of government for their selfish ends is not new in either this country or in the history of the world."

Passed Last Session
Similar legislation was passed by the senate last session but was called back for reconsideration as the result of protests by Senator Alington (D-Ind.) and other administration supporters.

Other developments of the day at the capitol included: Announcement by acting Chairman Starnes (D-Ala.) that the Dies committee would meet immediately, in open session, to question William Dudley Pelley about his activities of the Silver Shirt legion. Pelley showed up suddenly yesterday after committee representatives had hunted him for months.

A statement by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination that he would not enter the Illinois preference primary April 9 because the results of the voting will be "merely advisory under the Illinois law" and because "I cannot possibly be away from the senate for the time necessary" to make a campaign.

Election by the house of Representative Rayburn of Texas, the Democratic leader, as speaker pro tempore during the illness of Speaker Bankhead, who is suffering from a slight attack of influenza.

Counter-Espionage Agent Slain When Package Explodes

Lausanne, Switzerland (AP)—A Swiss counter-espionage agent was killed and another detective and a German were injured severely today by the explosion of a package which the German brought into the Lausanne police headquarters.

Detectives said the German apparently was slated as the victim in an espionage ring's settling of accounts.

The German, whose name was not disclosed, dashed into the police station with the package and said it had been delivered at his hotel by a messenger.

"I think it is a bomb," he was quoted.

Inspector Arnold Jacoud, active in counter-espionage work, took the package to deliver to a police chemist, but it exploded while the German was speaking.

Jacoud was killed, Police Brigadier Samuel Clot and the German suffered severe injuries, and a score of police employees suffered minor injuries when the blast knocked them down.

The interior of the building was damaged badly.

Finnish War Saves Man From Deportation

St. Paul (AP)—War in his native Finland saved William Kumpulainen, 33, from deportation and gave him a fresh start in America.

Last fall, Kumpulainen, serving a life term in prison for a robbery in which his partner killed a storekeeper, won commutation of his sentence to Jan. 15, 1940, upon condition that he return to Finland.

Then Russia invaded Finland and when Jan. 13 arrived, the state board of pardons put off his release to think about the new situation. Yesterday, it decided to free Kumpulainen, allowing him to stay in Minnesota with friends.

House Won't Withhold Salary of Ambassador

Washington (AP)—The house refused today to withhold money intended to pay the salary of an ambassador to Moscow.

It turned down, 103 to 105 on a teller vote, a proposal to eliminate that item from an appropriation bill—the first of several proposals planned by a group seeking to shut off this country's diplomatic relations with Russia.

Representative McCormack (D-Mass.), who offered the defeated motion, served notice that he had another, and similar one, to present.

Pelley Is Facing Committee Quiz On Silver Shirts

Reported Ready To Testify On Charges of Fascist Activities

Washington—(AP)—The hullabaloo over the mysterious "Pelley letters" was ended today by their removal from the House record, but a new Dies committee episode was in the making—examination of William Dudley Pelley about his Silver Shirt activities.

The soft-spoken, genteel Pelley, who had been sought for months by the committee, and its agents, popped up yesterday and was reported ready to testify on committee charges that his organization is probably the largest fascist group in the United States.

First, however, he helped bring about a quick denouement of the furore over the letters used by Representative Hook (D-Mich.) in a recent house statement designed to show a connection between Chairman Dies (D-Texas) and Pelley.

The latter told a house rules subcommittee yesterday that the documents were rank forgeries and that he gave Dies "a clean bill of health."

Admits "Manufacture"

David Mayne of Washington, a one-time aide of Pelley who had produced the letters, followed him on the stand and calmly said that he had manufactured them "right out of the clear air."

It wasn't long before Hook arose in the house, said the letters were the "figment of somebody's imagination," and withdrew them from the Congressional Record.

Pelley, meanwhile, dropped from sight after being given a subpoena by the Dies committee. Members, plainly baffled by his sudden appearance, said they were considering placing him under surveillance to assure his presence whenever they wanted to take his testimony.

Hook's request to the house to withdraw the "Pelley letters" was coupled with the statement that he had presented them innocently.

23 Scales are Sealed By Hodgins in Month

Joseph A. Hodgins, city sealer of weights and measures, sealed 23 scales and pumps during January, according to his monthly report. None were condemned. In trout work, the sealer made 333 tests and found 322 correct and 11 incorrect. He inspected 20 computing scales and 10 wagon scales.

CAB OWNERS ELECT Milwaukee Association of Taxicab Owners

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Wisconsin Association of Taxicab Owners elected Wiley Tarr, of Racine, as association president at an annual meeting here yesterday. L. J. Schaefer, of LaCrosse, was named vice president; Charles Ossmann, of Madison, secretary, and Pat Robertson, of Milwaukee, treasurer.

Rumors of Peace Bring Denial But They Indicate People are Thinking About Ending Strife

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—(AP)—Rumors of another German peace bid in the making, recorded by the Oslo newspaper Tidens Tegn, have brought denial from Berlin.

Naturally one cannot reject that denial. Still it should have caused no great surprise had the rumors turned out to be true. If Herr Hitler has altogether abandoned his idea of obtaining peace without having to fight to a decision, then it's a recent development.

Since his blitzkrieg in Poland, the fuhrer has used a powerful tool of salt, trying to spread some on the tail of the dove. Germany's straitened circumstances certainly would provide enough excuse for a further effort.

Whatever may have been the basis for the rumors, they are interesting and highly-important evidence that people are thinking in terms of peace.

(As I was writing this, there arrived a London dispatch saying the British union of postoffice workers today sent to Premier Chamberlain a resolution saying the government should clarify the basis on which it is willing to make peace. The resolution declared "there should be no summary rejection of proposals to end the war, from whatever quarter they may come.")

The rumors further are interesting because they rather give point to recent utterances which make one wonder whether peace isn't about to have a rough passage when it does arrive. To be specific: The other day British War Minister Oliver Stanley delivered a speech which was taken to be intended for peace advocates, including distinguished old General J. B. M. Hertzog, the South African statesman who has been advocating war's end. The general was prime minister of his country until Sept. 6, when he resigned after parliament rebuffed his stand against a declaration of war in support of England.

Stanley said only "troubled peace" could result from stopping the conflict now. It must go on to victory and a peace to make the German "peaceful and happy Europe."

But never again, under this leader or any other leader, under no terms or any other regime, must they have power to inflict upon the world the misery and suffering which twice in our life they have done.

Far be it from me to try to place an exact interpretation on that last paragraph. It would be fairly easy to get the impression that Germany was to be punished by being made to do something more than stand in a corner. Quite likely, however, my suspicious ears still are ringing with the cry of "Hang the Kaiser" from the World War, and the really mild-mannered minister had no

Father Coughlin May Resume Radio Talks

Detroit—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin will have copies of his regular Sunday radio address ready at the usual time next Sunday, an aid said today.

The priest, for reasons not disclosed, did not make his usual broadcast last Sunday.

The announcement that the regular procedure of distributing copies of the address to the press at the time he begins his radio address was interpreted to mean that Father Coughlin would be back at the microphone.

The aid said Father Coughlin was at the Shrine of the Little Flower in suburban Royal Oak but is not answering telephone calls or seeing interviewers.

Gehrmann Raps Montreal Stand

Assails 'Dominance as Great Financial and Shipping Center'

Washington—(AP)—Completion of a St. Lawrence seaway pact with Canada "would strike a disastrous blow at established United States business," Representative Gehrmann (D-N.Y.) said today.

The New Yorker, urging suspension of present negotiations pending a new study of the project, warned that construction of the seaway would disrupt existing land and water transportation systems in the nation by bringing them into competition with cheaply operated foreign tramp steamers.

Representative Gehrmann (P-Wis.) criticized Montreal for what he described as its failure to support the seaway.

He said Montreal's "present dominance as a great financial and shipping center came about through the stranglehold it has upon and its ability to hold back full economic development of a continent—that portion of the Dominion of Canada which lies to the westward of it and a large section of a friendly neighbor country, our United States of America."

The Wisconsinite said Montreal used its position as the head of navigation in the St. Lawrence to "levy local tribute on all water freight that comes out of or seeks to enter the Great Lakes basin."

The bulk of commodities are transhipped to or from large steamers at Montreal.

"Montreal," Gehrmann said, "would keep it that way always and thus remain forever the head of ocean navigation."

Hortonville Boy Scouts will entertain their parents at a program at their meeting next Tuesday evening in the club room. L. D. Hershberger, George Akin, A. C. Hastings and W. Schwann will attend the schoolmasters' meeting at Hotel Conway, Appleton, Wednesday, Feb. 14.

The high school girls athletic association has decided to buy pins for the organization. Members of the organization are planning a basketball game over the handling of trust funds left by Walter A. West, Walworth county resident, to his grandchildren.

The action, asking the ouster of the first Fond du Lac National bank and Maurice E. and Dewitt C. West as trustees, was brought by Mrs. Ethel West, widow of Walter A. West, Jr., on behalf of her children, William and Eloda, beneficiaries under the trust.

Judge Duffy, granting a defense motion for dismissal, held that the Walworth county court property retained jurisdiction over the trust, which was set up in a will probated in 1927.

Republicans Get Heavy Ohio Vote

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—The names of Ashbrook and Bolton were entered again today for Ohio district congressional elections.

Both relatives—one a nephew, the other a widow—of Ohio congressmen who died in office, they were nominated in Tuesday's special primaries which saw Republicans bringing out the larger vote in each of two districts where Democrats previously took most ballots.

Byron B. Ashbrook, 41-year-old Johnston banker, was nominated over five other Democrats in the 17th district to complete the term of his uncle, William Ashbrook who was serving his 20th year in the house when he died Jan. 1, J. Harry McGregor of Coshocton, speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, won the Republican nomination in a three-way race.

Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, widow of Rep. Chester A. Bolton who repeatedly represented the 22nd district, was nominated by Republicans without opposition. Bolton died Oct. 29.

Anthony A. Fieger of Parma, only Democrat ever to capture the 22nd seat, swamped his lone opponent to oppose Mrs. Bolton in the Feb. 27 by-elections.

Key Republicans Differ Over Late Party Convention

Outmaneuvered by Democrats on Date; Taft Favors June or July

Washington—(AP)—Although key Republicans in congress appeared united on Chicago as the party's convention site, they expressed a difference of opinion today over suggestions for delaying the meeting until late summer.

Apparently outmaneuvered in their original effort to hold the convention after the Democratic gathering, some of them proposed that the party nominees be picked in June, as usual.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the house minority leader, was one of those who went on record as favoring the early date. Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a candidate for the presidential nomination, expressed a preference for late June or early July.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the party's senate leader, recommended July 15, but his assistant, Senator Austin of Vermont, advocated holding off the convention until Aug. 1. Both men said Chicago, already chosen for the Democratic meeting, was the logical city for the Republicans.

The Republican national committee will choose the convention date and date at a meeting here Feb. 16. Democratic chairman James A. Farley was authorized to select time for his party's meeting, and it is generally expected he will set the second week after the Republicans adjourn.

There was general approval among congressional Democrats over the national committee's action on both the convention site and date. Senator Brown (D-Mich.), chairman of the party's senatorial campaign committee, said the Democrats should meet in late August or early September.

"We do not need a great deal of time to organize," he said, "and I don't think we should pay any attention to what the Republicans do."

Chairman Farley pleaded for party unity in addressing the woman's national Democratic club last night.

"The presidential campaign," he said, "will find the Democratic party enjoying a higher degree of internal harmony than its ancient enemy, the Republican opposition."

Appleton Streets How They Were Named

This is one of a number of brief articles telling how certain Appleton streets received their names. The Post-Crescent would appreciate information about streets not already run in this series. Letters may be addressed to the City Editor, Appleton Post-Crescent.

Outagamie street—From W. Packard street south to the Fox river, one block west of Mason street. Named for the county of Outagamie. The name is said to mean "those who live on the other side."

Owaissa street—From Opechee street north to W. Wisconsin avenue, a block west of Riverside cemetery. Owaissa is an Indian word said to mean "the bluebird."

Pacific street—From Riverside cemetery west to N. Superior street, five blocks north of W. College avenue. Named after the Pacific ocean.

Packard street—From N. Superior street west to N. Douglas street, four blocks north of W. College avenue. Named for Frederick Packard, the first city clerk in Appleton. He was a lawyer and was the first incorporator of Appleton water power in 1835.

U. S. Court Dismisses Jurisdiction Action

Milwaukee—(AP)—Federal Judge P. Ryan Duffy dismissed yesterday a suit seeking to remove from the jurisdiction of the Walworth county court a dispute over the handling of trust funds left by Walter A. West, Walworth county resident, to his grandchildren.

The action, asking the ouster of the first Fond du Lac National bank and Maurice E. and Dewitt C. West as trustees, was brought by Mrs. Ethel West, widow of Walter A. West, Jr., on behalf of her children, William and Eloda, beneficiaries under the trust.

Judge Duffy, granting a defense motion for dismissal, held that the Walworth county court property retained jurisdiction over the trust, which was set up in a will probated in 1927.

Police Round Up Gang Of Teen-Age Burglars

Chicago—(AP)—Fifteen complaints were signed today against four teen-age high school boys who told police they turned to burglary to augment with "easy money" the regular allowances from their parents.

Police said further investigation probably would result in at least 15 more burglary complaints against the youths.

The roundup of the gang was completed after detectives seized one of the boys Monday night as he was attempting, they said, to break into a house.

Police said the youths realized only about $200 in cash from the burglaries, although they were accused of taking a large quantity of jewelry.

Choice of Chicago for 1940 Parley Recalls 1932 Events

BY W. D. RAGSDALE

Washington—(AP)—The Democrats' choice of Chicago for a convention city takes them back to the scene of a party meeting that produced enough thrills to be an apt prelude for the pulsing 1940 drama.

If the next convention keeps step with the hurrying sequence of 1932 events in Chicago, it may well crack precedent by producing a third-term candidate—or even a president coming down out of the skies to reject such a nomination.

The major events of the 1932 convention are well remembered, though some of the characters are gone . . . Thomas J. Walsh, who died less than a year ago, won the right to preside after a hot fight with J. Edgar Hoover, backed by Alfred E. Smith . . . Prohibition got a gentle knife thrust between the third and fourth rib which sent it off to die . . . The convention stampeded to nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt on the fourth ballot after

John Nance Garner, then speaker of the house, had released his Texas delegates . . . Mr. Roosevelt flew from Albany to accept the nomination in person.

Many of the triviaillies which helped to make the convention what it was, however, have been forgotten. A few of them might be worth recalling.

The old gray mare band, minus the mare, and led by a pretty Texas girl, whooping it up for Garner . . . The pretty, killed Oklahoma girls who tooted and cheered for Alfalfa Bill Murray . . . The big pipe organ that boomed out campaign songs, giving a great lift to the popularity of "Happy Days" . . . The Indiana delegation deciding to support Shouse, the Al Smith candidate for chairman, but holding up its decision on whom to support for president. A famous dislike between National Chairman Farley and Governor Paul V. McNutt grew out of

Taft Won't Enter Illinois Primary

Says He's Unable to Leave Senate to Make Campaign

Washington—(AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, announced today he would not enter the Illinois preference primary April 9.

Taft said in a statement that the election merely was advisory and not binding upon delegates to the 1940 convention. In addition, he declared, he could not "possibly be away from the senate for the time necessary, in a large state like Illinois, to make the kind of campaign I should wish to make."

Thomas E. Dewey, the New York prosecutor, has entered the primary race, and there have been indications he would be the only Republican to participate. President Roosevelt's name has been entered for the Illinois Democratic primary, and no other Democrats have filed.

Taft's statement about being unable to leave the senate for any lengthy period indicated he also might stay out of the Wisconsin preferential primary April 2. Dewey and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) will be contestants in that race.

Wisconsin Men Named Among Best Dressed

Cleveland—(AP)—The Merchant Tailors and Designers association, which designated democrat Paul V. McNutt and Republican Thomas E. Dewey as "probably the best dressed men in the political arena," also singled out two Wisconsin residents yesterday for special sartorial acclaim.

The convention commented that Harry J. Grant, chairman of the Milwaukee Journal board of directors, was "noted for his Florida wardrobe," and that Robert E. Pabst, of Oconomowoc, Wis., was noted "for his correct dress in the hunting field."

The association omitted "the professional clothes horses—actors, society and clothing men," from its annual list of the nation's 25 "best dressed" men.

Hughes to Preside at Democratic Meeting

Sheboygan—(AP)—Former congressman James Hughes of De Pere will preside over the state-wide conference of Democrats at Wisconsin Rapids on next Monday, it was announced here today.

The conference was called to arrange for a slate of delegate candidates for the Democratic national convention.

C. E. Broughton, Sheboygan publisher and Democratic national committeeman for Wisconsin, has informed party leaders he would have a special message for the conference. Broughton attended this week's meeting of the national committee at Washington and while there had a personal visit with president Roosevelt.

Martin A. Nelson Will Seek Senatorial Post

Minneapolis—(AP)—Martin A. Nelson, twice his party's nominee for governor of Minnesota, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the United States senate. He seeks the seat now held by Henrik Shipstead, a Farmer-Laborite.

In a statement Nelson said he was convinced the next president will be a Republican and that Minnesota will send a delegation to congress to support him.

Nelson was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1934 and 1936.

Prepare Protest Against Proposed Cut in CCC Funds

Badger Sportsmen Move To Prevent Decrease in Number of Camps

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—(AP)—Howard Leppa, Brillion, and A. H. Pellgruer, Oconto, prepared today to work with V. M. Dickinson, Augusta and H. O. Gless, Princeton, in drafting a protest to congress against federal plans to curtail CCC expenditures in northern Wisconsin.

The committee was appointed by Chairman H. O. Schneiders of the Wisconsin Conservation congress executive council which discussed a federal proposal to increase expenditures on truck trails and roads, in northern counties in national forest areas and to decrease the number of conservation corps camps in the same areas.

Wisconsin senators and representatives will receive the protest, which comes from a group representing thousands of Wisconsin sportsmen banded together in the county advisory committees organized by the state conservation department.

CCC crews have given valuable assistance in forest fire fighting and prevention, council members said, and if they are withdrawn from the state, the state will face greater expense in patrolling and protecting the increased number of forest roads. It was also said that the government forest roads, which are not barred to public travel, make more areas constantly accessible to game and fish poachers.

The council will hold another meeting this spring to prepare for the annual meeting of the congress in Madison in July, when proposals for the next year's fish and game rules will be discussed by its members and recommendations made to the conservation commission.

What Constipation Victims Suffer Is Delayed Elimination

Common Symptoms Are NERVOUSNESS, Tired, Dull Feeling, INDIGESTION, GAS, UPSET STOMACH, LOSS of APPETITE

WHY THIS STOMACHIC TONIC MEDICINE IS OFTEN NEEDED

Two mighty important organs of the human body are the stomach and bowels. When these organs are not working properly, the body suffers. Constipation is a common ailment which affects many people. It is often caused by a diet that is too rich in meat and fat, and not enough in fruits and vegetables. It can also be caused by a lack of exercise, or by a habit of holding back the bowels. The result is a build-up of waste in the bowels, which causes discomfort, indigestion, and a general feeling of uneasiness. It is important to keep the bowels moving regularly to maintain good health.

Roosevelt Strong Enough to Demand Third Nomination

Lawrence Points to Power Of Federal Outlays of Last Eight Years

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Not the least significant aspect of the "draft-Roosevelt" movement which is under way in various states is the attitude of the practical politicians, many of whom came to Washington this week to attend the meeting of the Democratic National committee.

Almost uniformly these representatives of practical politics in their respective communities say privately, and many of them publicly, that there is no question about it—the name of Franklin Roosevelt on the presidential ticket would sweep the local candidates to victory.

Irrespective of the momentum given the "draft movement" by the office-holders here, the local organizations in the various states feel the pulse among Democrats and independent voters and there can be no doubt that their feeling of ultimate victory with Roosevelt on the ticket is genuine and not artificial.

Perhaps it is confidence that because in 1936 the Democratic party attracted huge members of independent voters there would still be a sizable majority this year, but whatever the inspiration for the expressions of certainty about a Roosevelt third term, the fact remains that the local politicians think Mr. Roosevelt is their best bet.

This does not mean that these local leaders are necessarily right about the ultimate outcome, for nobody can gauge accurately what would be America's reaction to an actual breaking of the third-term precedent, just what would happen to party lines in the south as well as the north. Thus certain Democratic senators privately say they believe Virginia, Texas, Florida and North Carolina might be found in the Republican column if a third term nomination is insisted upon by the New Deal henchmen here.

Western States

But so far as western states are concerned, the word comes in even from senators not so friendly themselves to Mr. Roosevelt that local political sentiment favors a third term for the president. On the whole it may be set down as a foregone conclusion that Mr. Roosevelt today commands enough strength in the Democratic party as to warrant a third nomination. A considerable segment of the party will insist on a draft movement, no matter what he says about it in the next few weeks—and there are indications some sort of statement of intentions will be made shortly by the president.

With one set of admirers, therefore, taking it for granted that the president should be drafted, and another set believing he will accept or will dictate his successor, the swing is toward a Roosevelt-controlled convention made up of delegates directly or indirectly related to the New Deal.

An analysis of the local organizations will reveal that the New Deal has on its side many governors, some of whom, whether by coincidence or not, have managed to get big favors for their states or at least the local prestige for having obtained them. Some of these governors have been in close touch with the president by letter and telephone so that they have become through the last few years as much a part of the New Deal political set-up as if they were selected for that purpose.

Dependent Governors

In the very nature of government these days, governors become dependent upon White House and governmental favor. They build their

74 Tables in Play at Chilton Card Party

Chilton—Seventy-four tables were in play at the public card party given by Christian Mothers of St. Mary's church in St. Mary's hall at Chilton Sunday evening. Prizes at schafskopf were awarded to Henry Damm, Mike Satzer and George Salm for the men and to Mrs. Leo Koehler, Mrs. Julia Schroeder and Mrs. Elma Propson for women; at five hundred, Frank Ludwig, John Hoerth and Mike Schwartz won the men's prizes and Mrs. Mike Schwartz, Mrs. J. P. McLaughlin and Mrs. Joseph Bittner won the women's prizes; at bridge, honors went to Mrs. Nicholas Bell, Miss Helen Nitz and Mrs. Robert Park; at skat the prizes were awarded to Miss Esther Thillman, Ervin Steiner, Louis Steffes, John Groeschel, Jacob Veit, Leo Geiser, Clemens Geiser, Frank Redhaert, Emil Steiner and Frank Miller.

Lunch was served by the committee following the cards. J. B. Reynolds W. R. C. No. 87, held its regular meeting at the city hall in Chilton Saturday afternoon. Supper was served by the following committee: Rose Pfeffer, Selma Haessler, Marian Rau and Blanche Schlosser.

own local organizations on the patronage and benefits which are distributed by an administration that has had more money to lend or give away than all the administrations from George Washington through Woodrow Wilson, and not excluding the World War, either.

The bureaucracy and political mechanism represented by the enormous outlay of 65 billions of dollars—the total figure estimated for the eight years of the Roosevelt regime—is simply incomprehensible. Pork barrel appropriations of the old days becomes mere chicken feed in comparison and the paltry sums put up by the Wall streeters of the so-called wicked Republican years are relatively insignificant alongside the power of the political pressure groups engendered by the unprecedented federal outlays. Objective historians some day would certainly derive more satisfaction in appraising the popularity of the president if it were not today coincident with the largest spending program in the history of the republic. All the praise of social reforms as the real basis for the Democratic assertions of confidence about another victory in 1940 with Mr. Roosevelt on the ticket would be ever so much more persuasive if the chant of triumph did not emanate from so many of the political sources with financial benefits to their credit—borrowed money that has piled up a record-breaking public debt.

Appleton Pupils Rank Over 90 in Mental Ability Tests

Fifty-three Appleton High school seniors rank in the upper 10 per cent in the Henmon-Nelson test of mental ability which was given to high school seniors throughout the state in cooperation with the testing program of the University of Wisconsin. About 100,000 seniors took the test.

Those whose percentile rank was 90 or better are Ellen Arnold, Vivian Bartlett, Robert Bayley, Bernice Becker, David Berger, Kathryn Berlinger, David Bliss, John Boon, Carleton Brecklin, Patricia Connolly, Margaret Davidson, Benjamin Dell, Robert Dettman, Harold Evers, Earl Fetting, Robert Feuerstein, Astvire Hammer, Eleanor Jentz, Ralph Junge, Edwin Kerswill, Paul Kleist, Robert Knoke, Mildred Leisinger, Lillian Lieske, Don MacLennan, Joseph Marston, Olin Mead, Betty Meidam, William Mullen, Bernard Nenschoff, Thomas Nolan, Norbert Roeland, Ben Rohan, Charles Rollins, Roland St. Pierre, Robert Scherzinger, Betty Schneider, Leatrice Sherman, James Sherry, Donald Smith, Warren Smith, Robert Steudel, Francis Sunnicht, Donald Swartz, Rita Thiel, Marie Tilly, Harold Weiland, Dorothy Werner, Dolores Wettengel, Robert Wilch, Robert Williams, John Wolf and Elizabeth Wood.

The test, the committee in charge pointed out, is but a rough measure of intelligence and the percentile rank should be considered only as additional evidence in an attempt to obtain data which may prove useful in helping the student adjust himself. Industry, enthusiasm, intellectual curiosity, honesty, affability and other phases of personality may be considered as important for scholastic success as scholastic intelligence, it was said.

State Income Tax Returns Must be Made by March 15

List Regulations Governing the Filing of 1940 Payments

The Wisconsin department of taxation recently sent out income tax blanks to 550,000 individuals, and taxpayers now have started to figure how much they must pay the government by March 15.

Because of a change in regulations, it is expected that only 350,000 will be required to file returns. If a person's net income or receipts are below the tax paying requiring amount, a person is not required to file a return even though a blank has been sent to him. Those persons who have not received a blank but are required to file a return should write the department at once.

Single persons whose net income is $800 or more, married persons whose combined income is $1,600 or more and all persons having total receipts of $5,000 or more, regardless of the amount of net income, must file returns. A separate return must be filed by the husband and wife when each has a separate income.

A married person with an income of $1,600 or more must file a return regardless of the number of dependents. A single person with an income of $800 or over also must file regardless of the number of dependents, even though he may be entitled to an exemption for the dependents.

Individuals whose income consists entirely of salary, interest, dividends or rent may report income on Form 1a, the short form. If any other type of income is received, Form 1, the long form, must be used.

Stop for Arterials

Lenten Thought For Today

Ash Wednesday, February 7. For I acknowledge my transgressions; and my sin is ever before me. Read Psalm 51:1-13.

This psalm aches with the pain of a sin-haunted conscience and yet there is healing in it as well as hurt, and deliverance as well as self-condemnation.

For true contrition is itself an absolution and the repentant have already begun to be pure. "God," said St. Catherine of Genoa, "directs toward the soul certain burning rays and shafts of light. . . They work in two ways; they purify and they annihilate." True sorrow for faults and follies is an inward fire, not easy to bear, but it "purifies and annihilates." Evil purposes and passions cannot endure its searching.

Shadowed memories thereafter can be dismissed and a new and steadfast spirit takes their place. "I am sorry" may be an easy escape, or it may be the end of confusions and unhappiness and its whisper may herald the dawn of a new life. But its repetition must go deep.

Prayer: Grant, Lord of Loving Kindness, on this day of confession and repentance, Thy pity unto us who need it so much. Forgive our pride and blindness and, though our knowledge of our transgressions is confound us, may the assurance of Thy mercy sustain us. Bring us and Thy sinful world to such sorrow for our follies and our faults that our repentances may purge us and Thy forgiveness deliver us from ourselves. Amen.

Band Mothers' Club At Hilbert Elects Officers at Meeting

Hilbert—The Band Mothers' club at a special meeting Monday evening at the public schoolhouse elected the following officers: President, Mrs. William Ruppert; vice president, Mrs. Louis Seigrist; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Norbert Thomas.

Mrs. Jay Thorpe was called to Chilton, Monday morning, by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Ed Jantz, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Pinnow. Mrs. Jantz fell while visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Jaekels at New London and what she regarded as a slight incident has proved to be a painful accident.

Mrs. Anna Gavin who has spent the last few months here helping to care for her brother, Theodore Runkle, left Saturday for Green Bay where she was called by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Maloney.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Seigrist entertained the following out-of-town guests Monday: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pilling, Mrs. August Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Guttenberger, all of Chilton. Mrs. Pilling and Mrs. Ziegler are sisters of Mrs. Andrew Hallock who is ill here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Seigrist.

Police, Firemen Ask Restoration Of 1932 Pay Cut

Commission Will Submit
Recommendation at Feb.
20 Council Session

Kaukauna—A request of fire and police department members for complete restoration of a pay cut made in 1932 was postponed to Feb. 20 as the common council met last night. In the interval the fire and police and finance committees will study the request and have a recommendation to make at that time, Alderman Seggelink, finance committee chairman, said.

The fire and police commission originally received the petition of the policemen and firemen, and last night referred it to the aldermen with a recommendation that it be granted when the council saw fit. Partial restoration of the 1932 cut was made several years ago. All city salaries will be set at the next meeting.

Again no major crimes were committed in Kaukauna in 1939. James F. McFadden, chief of police stated in his annual report. Through the department's safety program a reduction of 23 per cent in accidents was obtained. McFadden reported the bicycle ordinance successfully enforced, with 386 wheels registered and no serious accidents involving a bicycle since the ordinance went into effect. He commended the school patrols for their work.

Success Improvements
The chief recommended that the city's ordinances be codified, that old arterial signs be replaced by newer models, that new school safety zone signs be provided and that the council go on record in favor of a 2-way system for police radio.

Alderman Mertes, chairman of the poor committee, told the aldermen he was not ready yet to report on the question of hiring a city physician, but that the poor committee would have a report at the next meeting.

The setup of other Fox valley cities has been investigated in the last few weeks, Mertes said, and in comparison it appears that Kaukauna's arrangement is more expensive than others. All cities investigated, some of them smaller than Kaukauna, save money through a city physician.

Arthur H. Mayer tendered his resignation as fourth ward supervisor. Mayor Lewis F. Nelson appointed John H. Corcoran, 308 E. Eighth street, and the council confirmed the appointment. Nelson said Corcoran was the only applicant for the position.

Sewer Extension
An ordinance was adopted extending the city's sewer system on Garfield street, in response to a petition from property owners there.

Alderman Seggelink spoke for carrying out a tree survey, by which maps of the city would be made, showing the location, kind and condition of all shade trees, at an estimated cost of $50. Consideration of this project was put off to Feb. 20.

Alderman Steidl told the council he understood the Wisconsin Tissue mills of Menasha were interested in the Patten property, as the company was expanding its converting department. Mayor Nelson said he had contacted a company official who might inspect the property this week. A revised committee to foster the city's industrial development was named, consisting of Alderman Femal, Seggelink, Kinder, Ludtke, Luebke and Steidl, chairman.

A bartender's license was granted to Lester Ludtke, 828 Lave street, and a junk dealer's permit to Abe Goldin, 402 E. Seventh street. Nine milk dealer's licenses were renewed. An agreement with the state for the operation of the Lave street bridge was approved. Reports of the fire chief and city sealer were received and filed.

Disorderly Conduct Tops Arrest Charges

Kaukauna—Disorderly conduct led the causes for arrests in January, with seven fined on this charge, according to the report of James E. McFadden, chief of police. Two were arrested on charges of speeding, one of drunkenness and one for reckless driving. Fines were $27, fees $23, with $37 paid into the city treasury and $13 pending. The police car was driven 2,213 miles.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Kaukauna Gives $111 For Paralysis Drive

Kaukauna—Kaukauna's share in the campaign against infantile paralysis, the result of the birthday ball and the march of dimes drive, is $111.23, according to Ray DeBruin and Peter M. DeBruin, chairman of the two projects.

A profit of $96.83 was realized from the dance and $44.40 from the dime drive. Half of the amount collected will be sent to the national foundation and the rest will remain in Outagamie county.

Bootz Second in Cage Loop Scoring

Merchant Player Adds 16
Points to Move Up Behind Ves Hanby

Kaukauna—Scoring 15 points last weekend, Bud Bootz of the Merchants has taken over second place in the race for scoring honors in city basketball league play. The cagers will get a rest this weekend, resuming play Feb. 17, when CYO plays Poultry Lunch and Pulpmakers clash with Gustmans. Some postponed contests may be played this weekend.

Ves Hanby of the Brews undefeated this half, continues to lead the scorers with 56 points. The title seems due to be decided Feb. 25 when the Brews meet the Merchants, with the latter team undefeated in city league play all season.

The ten leading scorers are as follows:

Hanby, Brews	23	10	56

New Non-Fiction Books are Added at Kaukauna Library

Kaukauna—The fields of biography, economics, travel, politics and adventure are covered in new non-fiction volumes recently added to the public library shelves, according to Miss Bernice M. Hapner, librarian.

In the "March of Fascism," Rauschenbush gives the causes of this ideology as they existed abroad and as they exist in this country, and explains why Fascism gained its foothold. "An Economic Constitution for Democracy," a volume by Soule, treats of the problem of unemployed workers and resources.

In "I'll Take the High Road," Langeweische tells of an amateur flyer who saw America. "Cruise of the Raider Wolf," by Alexander, tells the story of a German raider in World War I. The story of four years in North Borneo is in "Land Below the Wind," by Keith.

"Imperial Twilight," by Harding, gives an account of the young idealist, Karl of Hungary, who tried singlehandedly to save Europe from itself. In "Factories in the Fields," McWilliams, commission of immigration and housing in California, describes labor conditions in that state, where 145,000 work in 3,500 labor camps.

"The James," by Niles, is a story of early Virginia times, telling of the drama of Captain Smith and Pocahontas, the early glories of Williamsburg, the arrival of Washington to receive a governor's commission and the fiery speeches of Patrick Henry.

Two biographical additions are "Marconi, the Man and His Wireless," by Dunlap, giving a comprehensive history of radio as well as the life of the great Italian, and "Badger Saints and Sinners," lives of those who contributed to Wisconsin's development.

Hollywood—The last laugh goes to Marlene Dietrich—and if she isn't enjoying it, she's more forgiving than most humans.

Fidler just below strychnine, and just above Edward Arnold. Already in the professional doldrums, that broadside just about scuttled her for keeps.

Just about—but not quite! After two idle years, Universal gave her a come-back chance in "Destry Rides Again." And if you haven't gasped at the phenomenal business that picture's doing, you're not up on show business. It's colossal, it's sensational—furthermore, it's profitable! And profit-making pictures have been scarce from hen's teeth these past few years. "Destry" is filling the theaters, drawing more admission fees than pictures costing many times as much. And if that's poison—quick, Watson, give the Mayers and Zanucks a great, big, delectable dose.

Seriously, isn't it time for the movie business to grow up and realize that it's folly to blame players for the flops in which they are forced to appear? Marlene Dietrich was a spectacular hit as long as she was given good pictures; she was a box office dud when cast in a long series of poor vehicles; she became a hit again when given an entertaining role. The "play's the thing"—an it always will be.

Idol Chatter: A few more silly outbreaks and John Barrymore will really be America's most "finished" lover. Wonder how many ladies who never mention Rudolph Valentino without a sigh can name his last picture? Terse description of Andy Devine: A vocalismity. Professional adversity continues to have a "broadening" effect on Jack Oakie. One gardenia will get you five smiles from Linda Darnell. Some of those screen cuties should read the books they balance on their heads to acquire grace. Have you ever noted the beauty of Paulette Goddard's hands? Today's observation: Women's styles change frequently in Hollywood—but their designs are always the same.

Cuff notes: Citizens of Kenosha, Wisconsin, have decorated Don Ameche's boyhood home with a bronze plaque proclaiming him "the best ditch-digger, bolt-tightener, curb-rounder and actor" ever raised there. The John Paynes (Anne Shirley) are furnishing an elaborate nursery for the heir-arrival scheduled next summer. People who make cracks about Ann Sheridan's "Oomph" should watch their step—she's taking fencing lessons. Looks like Johnny Weissmuller, who invested in a miniature flashlight invented by an uncle, will harvest a fortune—it's a sell-out in Europe's blacked-out cities. Ida Lupino will open a flower shop specializing in imported English plants. Charles Boyer has installed a super short-wave receiver with directional antenna in his home, capable of bringing in Paris night or day. L.A. Press Club's banquet honoring Admiral Richardson.

20 Foster Homes in Waupaca County for Care of 35 Children

Royalton—Foster homes in Waupaca county, under direction of the Waupaca county children's board and the county children's worker have grown as an institution recently.

For the child who is deprived of parental care and security in its own home the foster home provides a wholesome home, nourishing meals, suitable clothing, necessary medical and dental care, spiritual and moral training, educational opportunities and recreation. Homes are inspected by the county children's worker and a permit has to be granted by the Wisconsin State Board of Control before they qualify as foster homes. They are at all times under the supervision of the children's worker, Miss Esther Fiolat, whose office is at Waupaca. Since May, 1936, Waupaca county has had the service of a children's worker.

There are now 20 foster homes in Waupaca county and 35 children are being cared for. The county pays $15 a month for the care and board of each child.

The Waupaca county children's board was established by a resolution of the board of supervisors in November, 1937. This is a board of

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

Time Out and Good Luck

There are some 500 men in Washington today who at the end of this year must either retire, at least temporarily, to private life or make sure that they or their superiors are re-elected. There are the 435 members of the House; there are thirty-four Senators; there are the heads of the executive departments and independent agencies plus their important policy-making subordinates. Many of the Congressmen, of course, have safe districts and are practically certain of re-election; but even they have much at stake depending on whether they are to be in the majority or the minority in the next Congress. Five hundred is a rough figure but it is a conservative figure. These 500 men control the policies of the United States and they will supply such leadership as the American people are going to get during the year 1940.

On present indications they are not going to supply any leadership in 1940. Perhaps they cannot help it. For they believe that they are not in a position to think single-mindedly or to talk plainly about what they believe to be right and wrong in public affairs. They believe that they have to arrange their opinions to fit their current estimate of what the undecided voters will be liking in the period between June and November. This is not easy to guess. But the safe thing to do is to promise desirable results that cannot be brought to a showdown before election, to oppose whatever measures are strongly opposed by a part of the electorate rather than to support measures which are weakly favored by another part of the electorate, and on the whole to deal in generalities and slogans rather than in specific measures which are controversial.

Can Only Hope That Nothing Serious Happens

Any one who has not forgotten the election years of 1920 and 1932, which also happened to fall in a time when events were critical, will have learned that the morale of the politicians and the mood of the electorate in a campaign year is artificial and passing. The American democracy works better than an outside observer would think if he sees it only in such a year as this. As soon as the struggle for office is over and the preoccupation with vote-getting subsides, public men do begin again to think about the realities and the people do again respond to leadership. But while the campaign is on, especially in a period of dangerous disorder, the prospect is alarming. For it does seem like taking inordinate risks to have to pass through the year 1940 without firm and coherent leadership, without serious discussion of the genuine issues, and with responsible men preoccupied by partisan politics. It seems like diving blindfolded on an icy road.

As a matter of fact, it is like that. And if the Lord had not been very good to us in the past, we should not dare to run the risk. For the only policy we have just now is the hope that nothing so irreparable will happen in the next months that we cannot deal with the consequences when at last we have passed through the political ory and

Distribution of Relief Business Is Council Topic

Mayor Charges Some Firms Receive More Than Fair Share

Menasha—Mayor W. H. Jensen argued over distribution of relief business at the meeting of the common council Tuesday night, charging that Gear Dairy and Chudacoff grocery receive more than their share of business. The discussion occupied nearly an hour of the 21-hour session.

The discussion arose when Alderman John Finkerton reported on the distribution of milk business of relief clients, a subject discussed at a previous council meeting. He declared that relief clients are given a free choice between either of the two dairies that have their plants in Menasha, provided they have no past due milk bills. If the latter case they must continue with their former dealer.

According to the relief department records the share received by the Quality Dairy, a relatively new firm, has been increasing since October and amounted to 19 per cent in January. Alderman DeBruin pointed out that a line must be drawn somewhere and only dairies with their plants in Menasha are considered. Mayor Jensen argued that some of the dairies in the town of Menasha also pay taxes on other property in Menasha and should be considered.

Finkerton also reported that the relief department permits clients to fill their orders at any local grocery, the only provision being that the price cannot be higher than that quoted on the Chicago market. The mayor repeated his charges several times that Gear and Chudacoff are securing the majority of business. "You fellows are the boys. You put $35,000 aside for relief. Do your work," the mayor challenged the aldermen.

He admitted that Bishop, relief director, has a hard job and has done well. Alderman DeBruin suggested that the matter be discussed at a committee of the whole meeting with the relief commission. Alderman Walter O'Brien suggested that the council ask for an itemized account of where the business is going.

Dropped Without Vote
Alderman John R. Scanlon volunteered to investigate the relief bills and report at the next meeting and a motion was made to that effect. There were a few calls of "aye" when the question was put and no votes in opposition. "There's not enough ayes," the mayor declared and ordered the clerk to call the roll.

Alderman O'Brien first asked that the motion be read once more and the motion of discussion started again. The matter was dropped without coming to a vote. A hasty estimate from the January relief bill by Alderman Scanlon included the following accounts: Chudacoff $105, National Tea $101, Hopfensperger $79, Gollner $74, Stanislawski $44, DeBruin $25, Halladay $12.30, and Beck $2.50.

The council voted to advertise for bids on a new pump truck. Specifications, which are on file with Fire Chief Paul Theimer, were revised to ask for bids on both three-man and five-man cabs. The mayor pointed out that eventually it will be necessary to increase the department to four men to a shift. However, he said that he wanted to get the most fire truck for the least money. Bids are returnable at 7 o'clock Tuesday night, Feb. 20, at the city hall.

The council also approved a pay schedule arranged by the fire and police commission for any new firemen or policemen. This schedule is $100 a month during the first probationary year, $110 the second year, $120 the third, and $135 the fourth year.

The council also voted $5 a month pay increase for a new captain for one platoon of the fire department. John Miller has been acting captain since the resignation of John Stommel last year. The aldermen, however, did not approve the suggestion of the commission that the position of assistant chief be abolished and captains for each shift be substituted. Jack Dombrowski is the assistant chief. Alderman Scanlon and Michalkiewicz led the objection, pointing out that seniority rights should be respected.

Placed on File
Request of the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission for $10,000 of the annual appropriation, sufficient for operation for the first six months of the year, was placed on file. Alderman Scanlon said that the council should not forward that amount of money until payment of state and county taxes is assured. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

The 1940 salary ordinance was adopted with four changes from 1939. Salary of the street superintendent was cut from $1,920 to $1,800. The mayor objected because the street superintendent has received more than the police or fire chief. The aldermen discussed putting Tony Jedwabny, city mechanic, on a full-time basis and delegating some of the street superintendent's duties to him.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and display advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street, and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for display advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or telephoned. Orders for classified advertising should be placed by telephoning 543 in Appleton, and the cost of the telephone call will be rebated. The Twin Cities office closes at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Not counting the administration costs, Neenah aid bill totaled $1,838.18.

One family of five persons obtained aid in the town of Neenah, a decrease of six persons.

Schedule 4 Games in Neenah Cage League

Neenah—Four games are scheduled to be played in the Neenah Industrial Basketball league this week at Roosevelt school gymnasium. Hewitt Machines will clash with Neenah Merchants at 7:15 Wednesday evening and at 8:30 Kuehl Draheims will play Neenah Foundry.

endent's work on him. His position would be superintendent of trucks or superintendent of the city garage.

The salary of the city scaler of weights and measures was raised from $120 a year to $240. Salary of the city building and plumbing inspector for the year was set at $900. The two positions were combined in the last year. The fourth change was the raise for the new fire department captain. All other salaries are the same as last year.

New Parking Law
Parking on River street from Washington street to Lush street from 7 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon will be forbidden according to a new amendment to the parking law. Property owners along the street have agreed to the amendment.

Because of several accidents recently, Alderman Philip Michalkiewicz introduced a motion authorizing the street committee to install stop signs on all four corners at the intersection of Appleton and Seventh streets. The committee also will investigate the need for signs on Appleton street at Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth streets.

The fourth ward alderman also charged to the parks exceeding the weight limit are using Fourth street. He warned that the street will be cut up in spring. The street committee will investigate.

Mayor Jensen suggested that the council charge a fee for buses operating in the city. A recent act of the state legislature makes such fees possible. "They're taking business away from Menasha," the mayor said. "Menasha always is the goat. We're good at giving but we better start taking now." The council will consider the matter at the next committee of the whole meeting on motion of Alderman Edward Zeininger.

A suspension of his license for 30 days was granted John Engler who is going to sublet his tavern for a meat market while repairs are being made at the Hopfensperger market. An operator's permit was granted to Clarence R. Rore, 215 Third street.

The council voted to advertise for bids on fleet insurance. Bids are returnable at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 20. Alderman Scanlon reported that no agreement has been reached in the discussion with Agnes Price over land necessary for the opening of London street. The audit of the books of the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission was placed on file. It will be discussed at a committee meeting.

The mayor and clerk were authorized to sign an agreement with the state highway department on maintenance of the Tayco street bridge. Alderman Joe Munner, and Albert Pavetietz were named bridge tenders.

Vigilance Needed to Combat Propaganda, Griffiths Says

Neenah—Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom from sinister propaganda, a vigilance that embodies a process of education toward development of critical attitudes, J. H. Griffiths, professor of psychology at Lawrence college, told members of the Woman's Tuesday club yesterday afternoon at the Neenah Public library as he discussed "The Psychology of Propaganda."

"We cannot shut ourselves away from propaganda," Professor Griffiths stated, "so varied are its avenues to it speaks through public speeches, newspapers, magazines, movies, books, and the Radio. Using as the basis for his discussion, 'what is propaganda, when should we regard propaganda as propaganda, what are the psychological conditions that make it possible and what can we do about it.'"

Griffiths defined propaganda as dissemination of ideas with an attempt to influence, and developed his thesis by answering questions he previously listed.

Suggests Trickery
In recent years, the speaker pointed out, propaganda has had a bad odor, it has suggested trickery, an attempt to manipulate people when they do not know they are being manipulated and the emotional word has taken on a definite undesirable flavor. Propaganda can be both deliberate and accidental.

Professor Griffiths declared, as he classed the Nazi, Fascist and Bolsheviki propaganda as deliberate. Incidental propaganda is that which makes no deliberate attempt on the surface at least, to influence.

One is able to recognize the difference between propaganda and education if he considers the motive for always back of propaganda are the interests of special groups, commercial, political, social, sometimes even religious, aiming to control thought and action, and block independent thinking. Education aims to develop independent thinking, not any particular point of view but ability to think and reason.

Propaganda is possible, Professor Griffiths pointed out, because of the development of the individual from childhood with patterns of attitudes. Impressibility, docility, suggestibility are all utilized by propaganda to gain desired ends through repetition, simplification and showing the way. The speaker illustrated with examples as he discussed development of patterns such as prestige, security, power, individual advancement in motivating the individual toward reception of the idea, while the propaganda wishes to make important.

COMMISSION TO MEET

Neenah—The Neenah Water works commission will meet at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at a plant.

"what is propaganda, when should we regard propaganda as propaganda, what are the psychological conditions that make it possible and what can we do about it." Professor Griffiths defined propaganda as dissemination of ideas with an attempt to influence, and developed his thesis by answering questions he previously listed.

Suggests Trickery
In recent years, the speaker pointed out, propaganda has had a bad odor, it has suggested trickery, an attempt to manipulate people when they do not know they are being manipulated and the emotional word has taken on a definite undesirable flavor. Propaganda can be both deliberate and accidental.

Professor Griffiths declared, as he classed the Nazi, Fascist and Bolsheviki propaganda as deliberate. Incidental propaganda is that which makes no deliberate attempt on the surface at least, to influence.

One is able to recognize the difference between propaganda and education if he considers the motive for always back of propaganda are the interests of special groups, commercial, political, social, sometimes even religious, aiming to control thought and action, and block independent thinking. Education aims to develop independent thinking, not any particular point of view but ability to think and reason.

Propaganda is possible, Professor Griffiths pointed out, because of the development of the individual from childhood with patterns of attitudes. Impressibility, docility, suggestibility are all utilized by propaganda to gain desired ends through repetition, simplification and showing the way. The speaker illustrated with examples as he discussed development of patterns such as prestige, security, power, individual advancement in motivating the individual toward reception of the idea, while the propaganda wishes to make important.

Neenah Is Heavy Favorite to Win Over W. DePere

Rockets Drop Into Tie for First Place With Shawano Cagers

Neenah—Two straight defeats after eight victories in a row have dropped the Neenah High school basketball team into a deadlock for first place with Shawano. But as the Rockets prepare to meet West DePere in a Northeastern Wisconsin conference game here Friday night, they still hold the best chance of any team to cop the conference title. New London is a half-game behind the leaders.

To win the championship, the Rockets will have to beat West DePere, Shawano and Clintonville while New London and Shawano would have to lose one of their remaining games. The Bulldogs have Shawano and Kaukauna as well as Menasha left on their schedule.

The Rockets should have little trouble winning from West DePere, for in the first clash between the two teams, the Rockets won handily, 43 to 19, on the Black Phantoms' court.

New London, after losing to Neenah, 29 to 26, in the first game, proved too much for the Rockets last Friday night and took a 23 to 19 decision.

Point for Shawano
It is unlikely that Coach Ole Jorgensen will press his regulars too hard during the West DePere game, for on the following Tuesday night, the Rockets play the most crucial game of the season, meeting the Indians at Shawano.

Harland Hesselman, Neenah's rangy, high scoring captain and pivot man, still is leading his teammates by a lopsided margin, having scored 137 points so far this season. Buxton Kettering, forward, is second with 47 points, and Richard Miller, guard, is third with 33. Julius Hertefeldt, guard, has 27. Charles Kettering, forward, 21, and Ed Winkelman, forward 19.

Neenah High school's second team is still undefeated, and Coach Ivan Williams' outfit will be seeking its eleventh straight win when it meets the West DePere reserves in the preliminary game Friday night.

GOP Must Hurry If Uninstructed Plan Is Adopted

Have Until Feb. 29 to File Papers for Delegate Candidates

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — If supporters of the plan to send an uninstructed Wisconsin delegation to the national Republican convention intend to put a slate of delegate candidates in the field to compete with Vandenberg and Dewey candidates already announced, they will have to hurry, political posters concluded today.

The secretary of state's office yesterday reminded politicians that nomination papers for delegate candidates whose names will appear on the April election ballots must be filed at the capitol not later than Feb. 29. That gives the uninstructionists only about three weeks in which to campaign for their delegate slate, it was pointed out, although Vandenberg and Dewey boosters have been working for weeks past.

There is a general expectation in Republican party circles, however, that no action on announcing a slate will be taken until at or after the LaCrosse state convention next Monday, at which an attempt will probably be made to get a convention endorsement of the uninstructionist plan.

If such a coup is successfully attempted it has been pointed out, a caucus can be held at the same place at the same time to choose a slate of 24 candidates who can then start a brief campaign with the prestige of official party support, although at the cost of some bitterness bound to be inspired among the rosters in the Vandenberg and Dewey camps.

Principal Proponent

Governor Heil thus far has been the principal proponent of the idea of an uninstructed delegation, and if a ticket is formulated, he is expected to be included. Others generally assumed to be available are Congressman Frank Keefe of Ripon and Roy E. Reed of Ripon, old guard Republican leader and friend of the governor.

Reed yesterday released a statement here in which he expressed concern about the tardiness of the uninstructed delegation supporters in putting up a slate.

"Nothing worth mentioning is being done, though it might come up at the convention at LaCrosse," he said. "It seems a shame, for I feel sure the people of Wisconsin are hoping the Republican party will again take its place of leadership."

He said that although there are many good men being mentioned for the presidency by Republicans, only two have put delegates in the field this summer, and the two may not be contenders at the convention later this summer after all.

"It's high time the Republicans of the state awakened and took a hand in their own party affairs and in selecting their candidates, instead of letting a few pick their candidates and then be asked to choose between those so selected," he asserted.

Bride Must be Diplomatic In Handling of Husband

BY DOROTHY DIX

If I were giving advice to a bride I should say: Use diplomacy in handling your husband. As soon as you get a close-up on the man you have married, sit down and study his little peculiarities and put up a Keep-Off-the-Grass sign on all of his little prejudices.

Don't do the things that irritate him. Don't drag into the conversation the subjects that you know beforehand are as good for a family row as a nickel is for a ginger cake. Never make an unpleasant communication to a tired and hungry man or ask him for money. Wait until he is rested and fed and is in a soothed and complacent humor.

Whether he raises ructions over your mother coming to pay a nice long visit or extends her a hearty welcome, or whether you get the new car, depends upon the subtlety with which you choose the time and the place and the mood in making your communication.

Don't make jokes at your husband's expense and hold him up to ridicule. A man may forgive his wife many things, but not for making him a figure of fun. Don't boss your husband publicly. Defer to him before other people, no matter how much you heckle him at home.

When you want anything, plant the seed of suggestion in your husband's mind. Let him think he thought of it first, and after many days you shall come back and say that the sacrifice a father makes to educate and clothe his children and give them advantages are just as great and heroic as the sacrifices made by mothers. Lucky the child like yours who has a father and mother so devoted to it that they quarrel over which one loves it best.

Don't talk too much. There are foolish wives who believe that they should tell their husbands everything they do and think, and think they think. This is a mistake. Don't tell your husband the things that would worry him unless it is absolutely necessary that he should know them.

Don't spoil his evening at home by telling him of the naughty things that the children have done and that you have promised Mary that father would give her a good scolding and told Jimmie that father would whip him. Use your own brains and settle your own problems as you go along.

Don't tell your husband about all your little tiffs with your family. Long after you have forgotten what you got mad with them about you will be surprised to find out that he doesn't like you people and resents the way they treated you. Don't be forever telling him that mother said you should do this and mother said you should do that. The reason that most men hate their mothers-in-law is because their wives have always thrown mother in their teeth.

And don't tell your husband of your mistakes. When you get stung on the bargain counter tuck it away on the back shelf and say nothing about it. Throw your pan of heavy biscuits into the garbage can and be mum on the subject, but when you effect a brilliant saving and your biscuits are light as thistle-down, blow your own trumpet.

Most husbands take their wives at their own valuation, and when they boast of what prizes they have won in the matrimonial lottery it is because the woman has had sense enough to boom her own stock.

And, finally, daughter, ask your husband's advice. You don't have to take it unless you want to, but it pleases him and doesn't hurt you, and it makes for peace.

Which One Loves Children Better?
Dear Miss Dix—Which do you think loves a child the best, the mother or the father? My wife claims that her love for our child is greater than mine because she stays at home and cares for it all day. But I say mine is as great as hers because I toil all day to support it. What do you think? GEORGE K.

Answer:
You can't settle a question like this except by considering the individual case. There are some men who are all father, in whom the paternal passion is developed to a high degree, just as there are some women who are all mother. On the other hand, there are both men and women who seem to have as little affection for their children as cats have for their offspring. Not every woman who bears a child has the real mother heart, and many a father is so indifferent to his children that he never even takes the trouble to get acquainted with them.

But a man proves his devotion for his children by toiling for them.

Must Analyze Influence of Bid on Mate

BY ELY CULBERTSON

A keen bridge psychologist can determine, in the great majority of cases, the precise influence the bid he is about to make will have on both his own partner and his opponents. This type of vision is essential in sacrifice bidding particularly. A player may feel sure that a sacrifice attempt, if successful, will save many points but, at the same time, may have reason to fear that he will push the opponents into a slam which will actually make. The correct decision in such cases depends on analysis of the previous bidding, plus accurate appraisal of opponents' psychology.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 heart 1 spade Pass 3 spades
4 spades 5 hearts Double
Pass 5 spades Pass Pass
Double Pass 6 hearts Double
Pass Pass Pass

South's pass over the one spade bid, holding six of his partner's suit to the king, probably was the best tactics under the circumstances. He, of course, had full intention of raising the hearts strongly on a later round, provided that by so doing he did not push the opponents into a lay down slam. His coming into the bidding for the first time at the level of five had just the effect that he hoped: it met with a prompt double by West. When East took the double, going on to five spades, South decided to let well enough alone, hoping that the contract would rest at the five level.

North's double of five spades was one of those bad bids that occasionally have a good result. Certainly he should not have expected to make a heart trick after his partner had shown tremendous heart support by his leap to five. But, as it happened, his double paved the way to a good sacrifice. When the bidding returned to South, he now had no hesitation in bidding six hearts. Two separate factors gave him assurance that East-West would not bid a slam: first, that West had already doubled hearts at the level of five and would, therefore, almost surely pounce upon a six bid; second, that since North had doubled five spades, East would certainly leave in partner's double of six hearts, preferring a sure thing to what must be in his mind a gamble.

The sacrifice turned out even better than South hoped. East opened the king of spades and one of South's clubs was discarded. Declarer then had to concede only one club and two diamond tricks, which, with his 100 honors, amounted to a penalty of only 200 points.

Obviously, there was no defense against a six spade contract by East-West, the ace of spades being the only trick they could possibly have lost. Of course, with the magnificent fit in the East-West hands, a slam should have been reached, but even at five spades their score would have been very much greater than the 200 points they garnered.

Beauty and You

—by PATRICIA LINDSAY—

JANE WYMAN roller skates for exercise and beauty, as do many glamour girls. Why don't you form a roller-skating club?

No longer is beauty considered only skin deep. In fact every leading beauty authority in this country is preaching that beauty begins with good health and vanishes with poor health. Your beauty rating depends upon your measurements, the sparkle in your eyes, the life in your hair, the grace of your movements. So no jar of cream or exotic make-up can make you a beauty. They enhance your beauty very much, that is true, but it takes concentration on health if you wish to be numbered among the belles of 1940!

The leading salons of large cities, where women put themselves into expert hands to be modeled as well as reconditioned, all stress the importance of sufficient exercise and corrective diets. Before you are put through a half hour, or hour, of exercising, and then showered, "Pant before you paint," has become a beauty slogan and all women would do well to adopt it. After exercising you are taught good eating.

What Exercise Do You Get?
This is a splendid month to begin a reconditioning program. One which by spring will bring you renewed vitality and more attractive figure measurements.

You begin, of course, with a daily exercise program. This may be simply a two-mile walk each day in the open air, or it may embrace definite limbering, stretching and reducing movements done in a well ventilated room at home.

This excellent diet is available to Beauty and You readers upon request. Write for it care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed envelope, bearing a three cent stamp, to cover mailing costs. Ask for the new "One-Two-Three Reducing Diet."

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Don't quarrel before your children in public, and then effect reconciliations in private. If you fight before them, they are sure to learn to see your kisses and caresses so they will feel reassured that papa loves mamma and vice versa. Many youngsters are cruelly tortured, like Janeth, because they fear emotional insecurity.

CASE P-175: Janeth, B. aged 10, is a brilliant student in 6th grade.

"But her grades have been dropping greatly the last semester," her teacher told me one evening after my class in Child Psychology.

"She likes me and seems to have no aversion to her lessons, but still she does not make the high marks which she is accustomed to."

"I often catch her daydreaming or just staring into space. She seems to be lost in a fog. It isn't because she is having a puppy love affair, either, for I have checked into that.

"Dr. Crane, what would you recommend I do to help her?"

DIAGNOSIS:
By later investigation we found that Janeth's home life was the disturbing factor.

Her father and mother were having frequent quarrels, partly because he had taken a new job which necessitated long hours and new responsibilities. He was worried and exhausted so his temper was brittle.

Janeth heard the harsh words between her father and mother. She felt disturbed and fearful, for youngsters crave domestic stability. They want their father and mother to love each other.

Janeth's parents were not heading immediately for a divorce. They still loved each other. But their tempers flared up too often.

Four Janeths saw and heard their frequent battles but failed to observe the reconciliations. Because children form their judgments largely on the basis of tangible items, she was disturbed seriously in her emotional anchorage.

Children Crave Emotional Stability. She saw the fighting, but failed to see the kisses and caresses which followed the battles.

All parents should vividly realize!

Cheap Supplies, Closed Schools Wasteful Economy

BY ANGELO PATRI

In hard times the schools are the first institutions to feel the pinch of economy. The budget is always cut for the schools—for teachers' salaries first. Word is passed along to the principals and teachers that they must economize. Often they wonder where and how it is to be done, for schools are always poor.

The newspapers at this time always carry columns about the rising costs of education. So much money and so little to show for it. The taxpayers look at the vast amount budgeted for education and are aghast.

"Why should teachers be paid big salaries when we have so little for ourselves?" they howl.

Somehow it is natural for a taxpayer to feel the full weight of the millions for education resting on his flattened pocketbook. Every taxpayer knows how that feels. The idea gets about that the schools cost too much, and ways are sought to economize.

Look what happens. Night schools are shut; recreation centers are cut; classes are increased in size; the number of teachers is reduced so that those in service are overworked; supplies reach the vanishing point in quantity and quality; children are crowded and rushed through the schools and out to the streets. We are economizing.

Barre Decorations
I am heartily in accord with economy in the management of all public services but I would like to see intelligent economy practiced instead of this haphazard hit-and-miss idea. Blanket orders are never as effective as they might seem. They cover at once too much and too little. Money is taken from where it is most needed, and it is often spent where it could be saved.

I think that school buildings should be austere. I would not spend a dollar for extras. Children need strong, simple, efficient equipment. They do not need and should not have ultra smart, expensive fittings that cost a lot of money and require great care in their upkeep. Recently I saw a school building which was handsome and as expensive as any in the highest priced hotels in the world. Knowing boys' ways with such equipment I regretted the lack of simplicity—the emphasis on beauty instead of function. Function, perfectly set, has a beauty of its own that is as attractive and wholesome. That is what ought to be emphasized throughout the school building from office to boiler room.

Cheap Supplies Are Wasteful
Cheap and limited supplies are no saving. They are waste. Sandy chalk that cuts the blackboard, red ink that makes no mark, mucilage that does not stick, paper that tears and blots, and materials that are shoddy look cheap and they are wasteful in the quantity required, in the extra time needed for their use, in their uselessness in general.

Teachers are highly-trained specialists. They are the fountains of intelligence from which the nation's children must drink and be nourished. That kind of intelligence and personality is not cheap. Cheap teachers supplies, and an emasculated system of education combine to create a mob mind, and that is not economy. This nation demands and must have the best possible, the farthest-reaching system of education that can be envisioned. True economy prevents waste and this is the one place where we can least afford waste. The human product here has vital implications.

Chapter 23
A Lesson

His grief was a revelation to Sue. She had not dreamed he had so wanted a child. Once he was assured that his wife was no longer in danger, Allen gave himself up unreservedly to his bitter disappointment.

"You mustn't, Buddy, you mustn't! Think of poor Pats, how much harder it's going to be for her!"

He stared at her incredulously. "Pats disappointed? She's hoped for this very thing all along—made no secret about it! But I— it's my last hope of fatherhood. Sis, no woman who dislikes children as Pats does will ever give safe birth to one!"

"He's pretty bitter," Bob observed as he drove his tired wife home. "I think he's unjust to Pats, too. No matter how she felt before, she'd have loved her baby after it came."

Sue agreed with him. It seemed beyond the bounds of credibility that any mother could fail to adore her own child. But when she was at last admitted to her sister-in-law's room, and the invalid graciously chose to ignore their last meeting, Sue received enlightenment.

"I suppose you and Allen are mingling your tears these days, aren't you? Well, I'm not going to be a hypocrite about it. I said from the beginning I didn't want a baby, and heaven knows nothing I've gone through with all these months has changed me. I'd have done my best by it, if it had lived; since it didn't, I can't see the sense of looking so gloomy, and acting as though there'd been a death in the family."

Sue said briefly: "There has been."

"There hasn't!" Pats' voice was angry. "It never even drew a breath. Dr. Baker told me so! Now, Sue, if you're going to uphold Allen in this foolishness—"

Her nurse slid in quietly from beyond the partly open door. "You're getting too excited, Mrs. Davenport. Our doctor will scold us if he finds your pulse fast when he comes this evening. Perhaps Mrs. Trenton had better let you rest now."

Sue went no more to the hospital. But Cecily went! Allen reported disgustedly that she was there every day; that she kept Pats' room looking like a florist's shop; that fruit and candies and mysterious packages which Pats refused to let him open, poured in a steady stream.

"She asked me the other day if you never came to see Pats," he said. "She actually had the nerve! 'Where's your sister these days, Allen?' I've been hoping to run across her when she was paying her daily visit to the hospital!"

Bob came up just in time to hear this.

"I hope you told her it was none of her confounded business!"

"I told her I— I don't know what I said," he replied, rubbing a tired hand across his forehead. "Something about the number of visitors being limited. I dread to have Pats come home. That Cecily woman will be all over the place."

"Strictly Feminine"
Bob looked really truculent. "Look here! I'll tell her to stay away. I'm responsible—at least I suppose I am—for her being in town. It's up to me to keep her from annoying you, Allen."

"Bob, that's the last thing you must do! You're the last person to do it, in any case. And it wouldn't accomplish a thing. Patsy will see Cecily as often as she pleases, whether Allen likes it or not. No, I've told you both before: the only thing to do is to wait still she's tired of St. Joseph and goes her way. It'll be September next month. Surely she'll be making her plans for the winter soon. If we just sit tight and keep our dignity a bit longer, this will all blow over."

Sue proved herself a true prophet. Mrs. Meade Trenton vanished from the city almost as suddenly as she had appeared. Whether she was bored by Patsy's vacuity, whether she recognized that neither Sue nor Bob intended to allow her to make them angry, or whether, as Sue had said, she had plans which now pressed, the result was the same: she sold her car, gave up her furnished house, and was driven to Kansas City where she took a plane for New York.

Ensued a bad time for Allen's wife. With returning strength she shed her lacy robes and negligees, had need of a new fall wardrobe. She called Sue sweetly and asked her to come in for lunch. Sue as sweetly refused. The invitation was repeated, and again refused. Then Pats took the matter up with Allen and he came out to see his sister.

"Aren't you treating Pats a little harsh, since the hospital has told me last night she was trying her best to be friends with you, Sue. I know she's not your sort, I know she's most disloyal to you, but she's my wife." He sighed unconsciously. "I suppose she does the best she knows, Sis. You can't put a quart into a pint measure."

"Allen, you keep out of this! I'm disciplining Pats. If I let her get by with this, she'll be out of hand forever. I know her better than you can ever hope to do—don't contradict me!—because she's a woman, and I'm a woman. Trust me, Allen!"

She was a little startled at the long steady look he gave her.

"More to this than I know about, Sue!"

The first really mischievous smile her lips had known for many days deepened their corners now.

"We'll—in a way, Buddy! But it's strictly a feminine way, and nothing for you to meddle with."

She was puzzled at the stark relief in his eyes.

"I'll leave her in your hands then; they're kind little hands, Sue, if somewhat apt to box the ears of bad little girls."

Even Bob reproached her presently.

"Goodness knows I have no love for Pats, but she's your brother's wife, Sue. Unless you want a permanent estrangement—"

Sue was exasperated.

"Will you men keep out of this? I warned Pats last summer that she'd have need of me and now she has. That need is going to become a lot more acute than it is at present before I give in. I don't fool myself that I can make Patsy over;

QUICKLY MADE

BY ANNE ADAMS

Is this your first time with scissors and needle? Or are you a professional about it all? Either way, you'll welcome Ann Adams' Pattern 4386—it's so quick to stitch up with the Sewing Instructor's guidance. The waistline is SEAMLESS, with just simple darts for neat fit (see open diagram). Make the belt all-around or slash it through the front darts. The nicely shaped yoke holds in fullness below. Have the sleeves close-fitting with pointed tabs, or loose and flared. Do add the pockets, and use gay ric-rac or ruffle. If you like striking effects, let the yoke, pockets and sleeve tabs all contrast.

Pattern 4386 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 takes 34 yards 35 inch fabric and 21 yards ruffling. Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

but I make every intention of making her treat me with ordinary civility."

"What does she want of you, Sue?"

"Clothes," was the succinct answer. "Heaps and heaps of new fall clothes. She counted on Cecily to get them for her, and Cecily didn't. Now I am going to teach that young lady a much needed lesson."

'Threadbare'

In this she was cheered on enthusiastically by Barbara Webb who was present one afternoon when Pats, despairing of bringing Sue to her, took herself to Sue. Sue was falling and the two girls were cozily sipping tea beside the fire in Sue's upstairs sanctuary, when Pats came in without being announced.

"Don't scold Nelly," she said easily. "She did her very best to shut me into the reception room until she had your august permission to let me come up. How are you, Sue darling?" She enveloped the younger girl in arms which were last winter's coat. "Look at it," she bade the others gallantly. "Practically threadbare, isn't it?"

"It looks good as new to me," Barbara remarked bluntly. "It was new last Easter. I remember perfectly," happened to be with you when you coaxed Sue to buy it."

"But it's horrible out of style! The fashions are so different this fall. I felt positively conspicuous in it, wearing it out here."

"Will you have some tea, Patsy?" Sue's tone was expressionless.

"I suppose I'll have to. I suppose there is no hope of a cocktail."

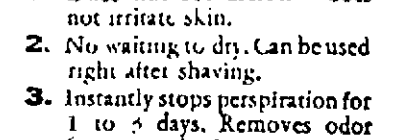

"Two lumps? Are you sure you were wise to come out in this rain?"

Patsy sighed. "I'm never wise, Sue. I should think you of all people would know that. But I am a good friend," she went on virtuously.

Council Votes to Place Relief-Cut Wood on Market

City Will Take Small Loss To Continue Work Project

New London — The sale of city relief-cut wood at a small loss to make room for more cutting was voted by the common council after long discussion at the regular meeting at the city hall last night.

Approximately 1,000 cords of mixed dry wood piled near the city sheds will be sold as it stands for $2 a cord, delivered anywhere in the city. Green hard wood from the cutting lot outside the city will be sold for $2.35 per cord delivered and the mixed green wood for $2 per cord. About 3,600 cords of 14-inch green wood cut this season is available for sale.

According to a report submitted by Alderman A. R. Margraff the wood costs $1.55 per cord to cut, plus 60 cents a cord for hauling and another 15 cents for piling up again in the city, or a cost of $2.30 per cord delivered. Of the cutting cost, a flat $1 per cord is paid for labor, 50 cents for stumpage, and 5 cents for supervision costs.

So far this season, a total of 3,600 cords of green wood has been cut and 2,471 cords of the dry wood from last year has been apportioned to relief clients. There were 3,300 cords on hand at the beginning of the season. The present wood lot is about two-thirds cut and will be finished in March.

Alderman Springmire reported that attempts to interest dealers at Kaukauna and Neenah in purchasing the wood proved fruitless because it was too long, 14 inches, and unsorted. From prices recommended by the committee and cost figures, the compromise prices were evolved after detailed discussion. It is planned to cut 12-inch wood next year.

Investigate Property

Prospective purchasers are interested in four pieces of city property, Mayor E. W. Wendlandt reported, and the finance committee was instructed to set values and negotiate for the sales. Properties in question are the gravel pit along the Fairgrounds road, the home occupied by Mrs. Elizabeth Lehman at 508 E. Pine street, the home occupied by Edward Besaw, Sr., at 308 Lima street, and the Woeshneck residence at Mill and Hancock streets.

The application of Otto L. Henschel for a retail tavern operator's license in the Kiewow building on North Water street was referred back to the license committee to investigate the plans of the applicant. The license committee recommended the application be denied since required sanitary improvements to the building have not been made but it was understood the owner hesitated to invest in the improvements unless the license was assured.

An operator's license for Lynn C. Hall, 29, to work in the place was denied also. A bartender's license was granted to Bernie Westphal, 34, 1012 Waupaca street.

City Attorney Giles H. Putnam reported that placing of the city assessor's job under civil service or control of the council was possible either by ordinance or referendum. Putnam was instructed to study similar ordinances put into effect in neighboring cities recently and submit one to the council at its next meeting.

The report of Justice Fred J. Rogers of $16 in fines collected during the month of January was accepted and placed on file.

Clapper Predicts Party Split If Roosevelt Tries Third Term

Washington — In talking with the press, Democratic national committee members attending their meeting here fell all over themselves to approve a third term for President Roosevelt.

That is natural. These committeemen were elected to their positions by their respective state delegations at the 1938 Democratic national convention, a thoroughly Roosevelt body. They represent organizations which have been built up with federal patronage. For what they have and for most of their munitions of politics, they are indebted to this administration. They have come up with Roosevelt and they are not saving themselves off from him prematurely. Besides, it doesn't look quite right, under their code, to seem to be biting the hand that feeds them. To declare against a third term before the president has indicated his position would smack of ingratitude toward the giver of all good things in Washington. Nothing queers a politician more quickly than to be caught in the role of ingrate.

So until Mr. Roosevelt speaks, a good many national committeemen will trumpet for a third term. And National Chairman Farley will continue to assume that there is to be no third term and will look favorably in the direction of Secretary of State Cordell Hull as the nominee.

But the situation has reached the stage where it will be necessary for Mr. Roosevelt to take himself out of it by definite action of his own, or else be prepared to see the Chicago convention draft him in an ugly fight. If he keeps silent, he can be drafted. There is sufficient organizational strength to do that. It would mean a struggle in the convention, and probably a walkout by part of the party. The picture left by this fight would not be a pleasant one.

It will be difficult for Mr. Roosevelt to retire after his name has been voted upon in any of the state primaries. It has been filed in Illinois, for instance. Other Democratic candidates are not likely to be filed there against him. So, unless Mr. Roosevelt is prepared to go through with a renomination, he will have to withdraw his name in Illinois before the primary. Otherwise he leaves the Democratic voters with no opportunity to indicate their preference with regard to other candidates. It is not fair for Mr. Roosevelt to remain in the Democratic primary unless he intends to permit himself to be renominated.

Claim Democratic Voters Want Roosevelt Again

A number of national committeemen say that in their states Democratic voters want Mr. Roosevelt to run again. Several of them say that this sentiment extends far beyond the regular party workers and into the rank and file.

I do not in any sense underrate the politician's knowledge of how his people are thinking. At the same time these statements are difficult to accept. I have been out in a number of states, not only this year but in several previous presidential years. For instance in 1936, as I went around the country, the demand for Mr. Roosevelt's re-election was unmistakable. I found evidence of it on every hand. Using the same methods, seeing the same types of people this time, and many of the same persons, I have not found a clamor for a third term. I have discussed the matter with a large number of persons, and if the feeling existed in the degree that the Roosevelt sentiment existed in 1936, or in 1932, I do not believe I could have missed it. Outside of organizational politicians, and a few special groups, the demand is not heard. On the contrary much was said against breaking the third-term precedent. It is a deep-seated tradition and I do not believe the country is ready to overturn it.

Sentiment in defense of the two-term limit is ready to break forth. I think, as religious sentiment broke out to defeat Alfred E. Smith after the Democrats nominated him by an overwhelming vote at Houston in 1928, or as the hysteria against dictatorship flamed out over the reorganization bill. That was a trivial bit of legislation yet it frightened the country. True, the hysteria was pumped up by artificial methods but it became a powerful reality. With a question as real as the third-term issue, the feeling is likely to be more easily stirred, and much stronger.

ously, stirring her tea. "I said to Allen, 'Allen, I'm afraid I've hurt Sue's feelings. It makes me terribly unhappy to be at odds with my people I love.' So I never even looked to see whether it was rain or not. I didn't turn back even when I found it was coming down in torrents. I just hopped into the car."

"What does Allen do when you use the car?" Barbara interrupted. "Pats shot her an angry look. Sue alone was hard enough to bend to her will, but Sue, reinforced by Barbara's presence, was doubly difficult. Nevertheless Pats went brightly on."

"I don't believe you've realized Sue dear, how long you've neglected me. Allen feels it keenly. 'My two girls,' he's said to me over and over, 'my wife and my sister — it would break my heart if they weren't friends.'"

Her two listeners greeted this pathetic outburst with broad grins. "I can just hear Allen saying it," Barbara commented.

1,000 Children Throng Chapel As Clare Tree Major Players Stage Dick Whittington Story

BY NELL CHAMBERLAIN

Accompanied in many cases by their teachers, the youngsters found their places, removed their wraps and squirmed and babbled until the curtain went up. From then on, their attention was riveted on the stage, with the exception of a few of the longer conversational passages and the proposal scene.

who succeeded in getting across enough cat-like gestures into his impersonation to satisfy the children, was the most popular member of the cast. The youngsters howled when the cat washed his face with his paws, lapped milk from a saucer, and spit at the bad-tempered cook, and they tried to mimic the "cat language" which the animal used to answer his master's soliloquies.

As usual at the Clare Tree Major plays, the costumes and settings added considerable color and meaning to the story, and the actors played up their comedy lines and situations so as to be understood by child audiences.

Lesson Was Funny
Jeremiah's lesson in arithmetic was funny to the children, and they found much merriment in the actions of the cook who was free with the use of her big stirring spoon on the backs and legs of the kitchen servants.

A good scene was the second act finale when Dick Whittington, learns that he is to sail to foreign lands with his master's ship. The entire group joins hands and dances around while the cat whirls around and tries to catch his tail.

The characters of the kindly merchant, the ship captain and the sultan were particularly well drawn.

What's New at the Library

The difference between playing with feeling and playing without "schmaltz," and there is a difference, according to Deems Taylor, is just one of the musical theories explained in Taylor's new book, "The Well Tempered Listener." The book is divided into three sections, the first dealing with the makers of music, the second with the givers and the third with the hearers. In the first, composers, old and new, are summed up together with a discussion of the relation between a composer and her era. The author ventures a conjecture as to what sort of careers Bach, Beethoven and others would have if they were living today, and if their music would bear the imprint of these troublous times. The book is full of biographical anecdotes in the author's conversational style. The second section answers many questions about the performance of music, giving a behind-the-scenes view of how it is presented. In the third section Taylor gives advice to the would-be critic, answers the criticism of "vulgarity" of our radio entertainment, and consoles the perplexed listeners who can't seem to figure out certain pieces and their interpretative passages.

A distinguished surgeon, a member of the Mayo clinic and former dean of the medical school at the University of Michigan speaks of the professional and political problems involved in providing adequate medical care at the lowest cost. He is Hugh Cabot, M. D., and his book is "The Patient's Dilemma." The book is a discussion of what, in the present state of medical knowledge, the American people need for securing adequate attention to their health, in terms of equipment, scientific knowledge, personnel and medical education, and the most practical ways of organizing these facilities for the desired end. Readable and non-technical, it shows common sense.

A story of courage coupled with humor and gaiety is "I Begin Again" by Alice Bretz. It is about a woman who became stone blind in adult life and had to "begin again" to remake her life under new and different conditions. She now lives alone in the heart of New York, but surrounded by friends who are inspired by her courage and enjoy her companionship and hospitality. One of the most interesting chapters is given to her experience in reading, and how certain authors appear when read in Braille.

"Wrestling" by E. C. Gallagher explains techniques and fundamentals of one of the oldest sports in the world. There are pictures of individual holds with explanatory descriptions. The author's team have produced 50 national champions and have won 10 of the last 12 inter-collegiate championships.

Color photography for advertising purposes is rapidly becoming a factor for which many commercial photographers have found it necessary to go into. Available present-day methods of using this art are presented in "Natural Color Processes" by Carlton E. Dunn.

The Wabash river on whose banks during the Revolution the shape and size of the United States was determined, is presented in historical sequence in "The Wabash" by William E. Wilson, one of the Rivers of America series of volumes. The southern boundary of Canada was set at the Great Lakes instead of the Ohio and the great sweep of western plains was opened up to American settlement. The book tells the story of people of imagination and daring—LaSalle bringing his canoe down the Ohio, coming to the junction with the river from the north and thinking he had found a waterway to China; George Rogers Clark and his wilderness fighters; Tecumseh leading his people in a last stand against the invading whites; Abraham Lincoln who lived for 14 years in the Wabash country before moving to Illinois.

The process through which a human being becomes an individual is presented in "The Integration of the Personality" by Carl G. Jung. It describes the conflict between consciousness and the unconscious. Jung has illustrated his material with case histories and historical examples ranging from alchemy to religion, and he discusses the symbols through which the deepest

Boy Scout Drive Launched Today; 80 Men Volunteer

Goal of District Campaign If $4,500; Belanger Chairman

Workers in the annual Appleton district boy scout campaign were covering the city today, raising funds to assist in maintaining the scout program.

About 80 workers, comprising nine teams, had their assignments this morning and went promptly to work, aiming at bringing in the district scout organization about $4,500.

The drive is being conducted today and tomorrow, with mopping up work scheduled for Friday and Saturday. F. N. Balanger is general chairman.

About 60 men attended the "kick-off dinner" last night at the Conway hotel at which methods of procedure were discussed and workers given their respective areas to cover.

The drive has been timed with the National Boy Scout week, which is being observed throughout the nation Feb. 8-15. Troops throughout the valley council have planned special events to celebrate the week.

Workers in the district drive will make their first reports at a dinner meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in Hotel Appleton. Between 60 and 70 men are expected at the meeting. Clarence H. Engberg, scout executive, reported. The third and final dinner meeting will be held Thursday evening at the Conway hotel.

CIO Glass Workers are Given New Contract

Cleveland—The Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America (CIO) has signed contracts with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., and the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Co., granting $1,200,000 in pay boosts to 15,000 workers, union president Irwin De Shetler of Columbus, Ohio, said today.

He declared the one-year pacts provided a general two-cent-an-hour increase and elimination of differences between wages paid by the companies, the nation's two largest manufacturers of flat glass, for identical work.

Signing of the contracts shortly before midnight culminated three weeks of negotiations. The records were made retroactive to Feb. 1, replacing agreements that expired Jan. 31.

De Shetler said the increase means that safety glass workers will average about 90 cents an hour and window glass employees about 10 cents less. Plants in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and West Virginia will be affected.

Negotiations between the union and a number of small manufacturers are still under way. Contracts with these firms also expired Jan. 31.

"Phooey" and Shrug Rout Would-be Robber

Chicago—Elizabeth Hubert, attractive 19-year-old clerk in a dry cleaner's shop, literally floor-floored a robber with one contemptuous word.

"Listen, lady," said a young man who entered the shop last night, "give me that cash box or I'll shoot."

"Phooey," replied Elizabeth, turning with a shrug.

Unnerved, the robber fled.

Catholic College Property Sold to Olivet Nazarene

St. Viator, Closed in June, 1938. Valued at $1,000,000

Danville, Ill.—St. Viator college, a Catholic institution for many years, last night became Olivet Nazarene college, when trustees of the latter voted to purchase the buildings and grounds of the Catholic school in Bourbonnais, a suburb of Kankakee, Illinois.

While the purchase price was not disclosed, it is known the physical properties of the college have a valuation of approximately $1,000,000.

Last night's decision ends a search of the middle west for the site of a Nazarene educational institution to replace Olivet college, located near Danville for 25 years. A disastrous fire on November 19 destroyed some of its buildings. Classes have been maintained, but the trustees decided time and money could be saved by moving Olivet to Kankakee.

Dr. Edwin Burke of Chicago, board president, announced that Dr. A. L. Parrott, head of Olivet College, would be president of the new institution. It will open next September with an enrollment of about 600 students seeking ministerial and missionary training.

St. Viator college was closed in June, 1938, when creditors foreclosed a mortgage of $300,000 on its physical plant. The college, 73 years old, had turned out hundreds of young Catholics for the priesthood. Its athletic teams, particularly the baseball team, were well-known members of the old little league conference and at least one graduate, Bud Clancy, later became a major league player.

The college was founded and operated by the Viatorian brothers. The present site was purchased in 1868.

Says Religion Should Be Part of Education

Chicago—Religion in its broader aspects should be an integral part of education in the nation's public schools, Dean Luther A. Weigle of the Yale Divinity school said today.

"To exclude religion from public schools," he said, "would be to surrender these schools to the secularism of atheism and irreligion."

Dr. Weigle told the eighteenth annual meeting of the International Council of Religious Education that sectarianism must be kept out of public school curricula, but added:

"There is nothing in the principle of religious freedom or the separation of church and state to hinder the school's acknowledgment of the power and goodness of God."

Wiley Calls Upon U. W. To Aid in Betterment Of Democratic System

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Senator Alexander Wiley, Chippewa Falls Republican, in a speech prepared for the alumni of the University of Wisconsin here, this evening, calls on "one of the great educational institutions of earth" to "recognize that we are defenders of the American system of democracy."

Wiley intends to tell graduates of the university, who are celebrating Founder's day in Washington, "We must all recognize that we must 'step up' our democracy so that the nation will be as efficient in handling its domestic problems as dictators are."

"If labor and capital actually want justice," Wiley emphasizes, "it is undoubtedly obtainable through means that exist between themselves. The 90 per cent have got to demand that they submit their differences to an arbitral group and that they be not permitted to damage 'our interests'—the interest of the great majority. There must be an improvement of our industrial system, not destruction thereof, so that in the fullest sense those who labor will receive their equitable share."

Warning against the "petty tricks of politicians," Wiley states, "We must all recognize that we have got to strengthen the moral fiber of our citizens and the moral fiber of our nation by getting rid of jealousy, fear, and human pettiness. We need a renaissance in respect for law and order and our form of government."

But politics "shall not control the university," Wiley declares. "Our Alma Mater taught us that the great task of civilization is the making of finer human beings. If this great objective is continually before us there will be an orderly advance. We will find the answers. We will be builders."

"These same corporations and their executive heads have also been active members of the National Association of Manufacturers and actively participated in the determination of the policy of the N. A. M. to advise industry generally to deliberately violate the national labor relations act."

Two of the listed corporations, Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube, were involved in the 1937 (Little Steel) strike waged by Lewis and the C. I. O. in the middle west.

Lewis declared in his statement that one of the "secret conferences" was held July 19, 1938, at a luncheon in the Union League club in New York City on another Nov. 1, 1938, in Chicago.

Winter Setting Is Marred by Melting

Mercury Stays Above Normal; 28 Above Here This Afternoon

The thermometer ranged in above normal levels again today as inhabitants of Appleton and vicinity walked about enjoying the sunlight and clear skies. Skating and skiing surfaces took another beating from the mild temperatures.

Although the minimum for the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning—16 above at 9 o'clock today—was the coldest reading of the last two days, the mercury climbed steadily and had mounted to 28 above by 12:30 this afternoon. Yesterday's high reading was 29 above, at 10 o'clock in the morning. The Milwaukee bureau forecast fair weather tonight and cloudy tomorrow.

A small cold air mass drove the mercury below zero in parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas today while the remainder of the nation enjoyed moderate temperatures, the Associated Press reported.

At Roseau, Minn., was the country's coldest spot this morning with 12 below. Elsewhere temperatures generally were above normal—much as 10 to 22 degrees in the northern Rockies and 10 to 24 in New England.

Forecaster Gordon Dunn said a weather disturbance centered over Colorado and Wyoming was moving southeastward into Texas and would bring some precipitation tomorrow to the great plains and middle Mississippi valley, creeping into the Ohio valley later. Moderately cold weather will follow.

A rain area extended over the southeastern quarter of the continent, with heaviest falls reported from northern and central Florida.

Cloak Is Judge for State Play Contest

F. Theodore Cloak, associate professor of dramatics at Lawrence college, is one of three judges appointed in the annual Wisconsin playwriting contest for amateurs. Prize winning plays will be presented at Madison next spring.

Cloak and the two other judges this week completed the reading of the 21 plays entered. The two other judges are Roland Fernand, editor of the Dramatic Publishing company, Chicago, and Dr. Ronald E. Mitchell of the University of Wisconsin.

In its October, 1938, convention the A. F. of L. voted to ask congress for a series of amendments to the Wagner act which would revise the controversial statute in many vital respects. A. F. of L. leaders have accused the labor board of pro-C. I. O. bias.

Lewis' statement listed the 14 companies which he said had been represented by the three attorneys in labor board cases as follows:

By Reed-Weirton Steel, H. J. Heinz, Columbian Enamelling and Stamping, and Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company.

By Ballard-Inland Steel, Borg Warner, Inland Lime and Stone, Link Belt, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, International Harvester, and Mid-States Gunned Paper.

By Montague—Electric Boat, Standard Steel Works, and Baldwin Locomotive.

Youngstown, Ohio—Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, named by John L. Lewis as one of 14 companies having counsel which helped prepare A. F. of L. proposals to amend the Wagner act, said today "Mr. Lewis is mistaken, as we know nothing about the matter discussed by him."

It's Johns' 'Guess' That Roosevelt Won't Try for Third Term

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Congressman Joshua L. Johns, Algoma Republican, says that his "guess" is that President Roosevelt will not seek a third term.

"The next president of the United States will have a heavy burden to carry," Johns points out. "It will take a young man, strong and vigorous in both mind and body. There is no man living who can efficiently take care of the official duties of our government for a period exceeding two terms, or eight years," Johns believes.

"He might be the head of the government, but the next four years will require more than a passive president. The president knows this. The people should know the truth about it. The best evidence of what I have just said," the Wisconsin congressman states, "is the fact that we have only one ex-president living—Herbert Hoover, and he served only one term."

Johns asks Wisconsin people to "look over the prospective candidates whose names have been mentioned, because later this year you will have to make a choice. Be sure this time it is the right one," he urges.

Lewisohn, Noted Author, Married For the 3rd Time

But Self-Designated Common-Law Wife Holds Up Ceremony 3 Hours

BY HAL BOYLE
New York (AP)—Newlywed Ludwig Lewisohn, an immigrant intellectual who wooed and won three women while writing 24 books, set out today to gain custody of his 6-year-old son from his self-designated common-law wife.

The 56-year-old novelist, literary critic, scholar and translator, said he and his bride of a day, dark-eyed Edna Manley, 31, a former newspaper reporter, would go to court, if necessary, to get back the boy.

"I am determined to get Jimmy back," said the gray-haired writer, who has set up housekeeping in his Riverside drive apartment.

Lewisohn said plump Thelma Spear, concert singer, poetess and mother of his son, in "a friendly, mutual agreement" last summer had given him custody of the boy, but later got him back by "tricking" his housekeeper.

Miss Spear, holding blue-eyed Jimmy by the hand and trailed by her attorney, tried to stop the Lewisohn-Manley wedding in Baltimore yesterday by rushing into Har Sinai temple, tearfully protesting: "This wedding must not take place. I have been his wife, his muse, his soul!"

The ceremony went on—three hours later—despite her hysterical objections, and her attorney, Bernard Sandler of New York, made a bigamy complaint against Lewisohn.

Lewisohn, born in Berlin, came to this country at the age of seven. A noted critic and interpreter of American Jewish thought, he formerly taught German language and literature at the University of Wisconsin and Ohio State university.

Baltimore—The State's Attorney J. Bernard Wells announced today he would make a "thorough investigation" of the latest marital venture of author Ludwig Lewisohn to determine "whether any action should be instituted in this jurisdiction."

Legal action was asked by Miss Thelma Spear, who temporarily halted Lewisohn's marriage to Miss Edna Manley yesterday by bursting into Har Sinai temple and asserting she was the author's common-law wife and mother of his son, Jimmy.

After the ceremony had been performed over her objections, Miss Spear and her attorney, Bernard Sandler, asked the Baltimore city prosecutor to determine whether there was any ground for filing a bigamy charge against Lewisohn.

It Is Said--

The song, "God Bless America," which has been introduced to the American public over the radio, is apparently becoming popular as a banquet piece. And as such, the new song needs learning if it is to be given proper treatment.

A bit heavy with patriotism, it nevertheless has received the nod of approval from a lot of quarters. It was sung at two large banquets in Appleton within the last month. The first time the diners tried it, the result was dismaying. But a couple of experiences with the melody and help on the words changed the spirit and effect. Some Appleton observers predict it will stick.

That the 69th regiment has figured prominently in the Grunert family, Chauncey Grunert, member of the Rainbow Veterans division, fought with the 69th regiment in the World war. Chauncey's late brother, Norman, fought with the 69th regiment in the Spanish American war, and their late father, Morris Grunert, fought with the 69th regiment in the Civil war. The Rainbow vets are sponsoring the showing of the motion picture, "The Fighting 69th," which opens here later this week.

That Grace Grist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Grist, 21 Winona court, didn't miss seeing the Clare Tree Major play, "Dick Whittington and His Cat," yesterday afternoon, although she arrived home from Minneapolis just a few minutes before the play was scheduled to start. A student at Edison school, she came rushing into the chapel just before curtain time, announcing that her family had just driven back from Minneapolis. They had gone Sunday to get her mother who had been called there three weeks ago by her mother's illness.

BOY SCOUT WEEK

February 8-14

Your INVESTMENT
in the Boy Scouts

Helps Us Train American Youth for PEACE!

THE annual drive for funds to support the Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, has just been launched in Appleton. Appleton business and professional men will be busy this week calling upon as many Appleton citizens as possible. These men are giving liberally of their own valuable time, and whoever calls on you deserves your courtesy and consideration.

No matter how much or how little you can afford to invest in the Boy Scouts, your share is increasingly important this year. In a world racked with war, regimentation and suffering, the Boy Scout program of training its members the American Way — for PEACE — is vital to the future of the United States.

For, unlike some causes to which you are asked to contribute and taxes you must pay, the dollars which go into the Boy Scout program help us to train growing boys to avoid mistakes in the future. You invest in the mental and physical health of future American manhood — instead of helping to pay for mistakes in the past.

It is this very reason which leads so many men and women to tell us they ENJOY investing in the Boy Scouts, for to them it IS an investment not a contribution.

We hope that this is the way YOU feel about the Boy Scouts. If you are called upon this week by a Valley Council representative, please cooperate with him in every way possible. If you are not available, then please make your investment voluntarily. Either telephone Boy Scout headquarters or send us the coupon on this page.

The Boy Scouts are counting on YOU!

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
APPLETON High school basketball team turned in another thriller for the benefit of its followers last night at the high school gymnasium, but it once more dropped the decision. It was 30 to 24 but the game was much closer than that. Sheboygan Central was the winner.

The Terrors were out in front of Central until the final three minutes of play. Then the big invaders turned on an extra strong spurt and the Terrors had nothing left to match it. It netted Central three baskets and two free throws while Appleton got only a free throw.

Appleton turned in its best game of the season and if it could only sink some of these shots—But that's been gone into before, and once more it must be admitted that ability at the free throw line helped considerably.

Central is doped to annex the conference title and if it does it'll shudder every time it thinks of last night's game. For the Terrors put up a defense that was hard to drive through, that harassed every effort of the invader guards to advance the ball, and that often times intercepted or broke up passes and turned them into scoring attempts for Appleton. Central's strongest point was a couple of big fellows who got up into the air after the rebounds and a couple guards who could register long shots.

Central Defense Strong
Sheboygan also had a strong defense. During the first three minutes of the game it forced Appleton to pass the ball around the outside with no opportunities to shoot. Burton finally broke the ice and Janssen, the conference's leading scorer, followed up a shot for Central to even the count. Free throws left the score at 4 to 3 as the quarter ended. Central had five fouls during the period but Appleton blew four of the six shots.

Appleton was handling the ball well, showing more inclination to move it around and as the second quarter opened Cooper registered on a pass from Burton. Schroeder scored a pivot shot for Central and then turned in two fouls in a row and left the game as Appleton counted on two of the three tries. A fast break by Central left Appleton leading only 9 to 8 but when Burton counted a push shot, Cooper a free throw and Lathrop a follow-up, the teams stopped for the intermission with Appleton leading 14 to 8.

Central got the jump on the Terrors as the third quarter opened. Fessler scored a basket and then Simenz heaved one in from the side of the court. Oehlberg tied up the game with a bucket on a dribble and fast break.

Burton Gets Assist
Blacher took a pass from Burton and slipped the ball through the hoop but Backey's long shot again tied the score. Backey got another 40 put Central ahead but two free throws by Cooper left the score 18 all at the end of the third period. Twice during the period Appleton was guilty of paltry muffs of easy baskets.

The fourth period was a thriller with John Mack, the assistant football coach going wild, staid Dr. George T. Hegner whipping the scoring bench with his hat, and Coach Pete Bries, again acting for Coach Myron Seims, all but ready to tear his hair.

Janssen dribbled in to give Central two points. Burton got back one of the points on a free throw but Simenz swished a long shot for Central. Hopes soared when Kiefer dribbled the length of the floor and scored, and Cooper muffed a try but followed it up and sank it. The score then was 23 to 22 for the Terrors.

A free throw tied the score at 23 all and the big Central lads began to set a fast pace which netted them three goals and eventually the game. Appleton, on the other hand, wilted badly in the last minutes with Kiefer almost exhausted and taken from the game, while Cooper spalled a flock of players as he collected his final foul. The period saw considerable razzed play because of the pace the teams were setting.

Cooper led the Appleton scorers with two goals and four free throws for 12 points. Janssen counted three goals and two free throws for Central.

PAIR OF PITCHERS
Bucky Walters, Cincinnati pitcher named most valuable player in the National League for 1939, does a bit of horseplay pitching to Tony Galento. Winter Sports Tourney Scheduled in 2 Parks

PLANS are taking shape for the winter sports tourney scheduled for Jones and Pierce parks on Sunday, Feb. 11. Should the weatherman decide on a thaw for this date the entire program will be re-scheduled for the following week.

Jones park activities will include speed and figure skating, hockey and ice tennis. Pierce park will provide the track for the dog derby which will have its second annual showing, starting at 3 o'clock. This gives ample time for those who are interested to get from one park to the other. Cur-

The Sorensen Bakers will oppose the Fond du Lac Goldstreaks at 8:30 tonight at the Y.M.C.A. The Streaks are leaders in the Fond du Lac Major AA league and the Bakers are tied for first place in the City-Y.M.C.A. league here. There will be no admission.

Jerome Diedrick, goes 6 feet, 2 inches, and is a former vocational school player.
Jesse James, captained a northern Illinois high school team to a title. He's a sensational dribbler. Leslie Kleatsch, another former vocational player, small but fast and shifty with a good eye for the hoop.

Terry Turns Ott Over To Stoneham to Sign

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK—(P)—Ralph Gramham, former Kansas State grid great, has the post position in the race for Coach W. Fry's old job out there. Gramham now is one of Bo McMillin's assistants at Indiana. At last! Master Hague and Mike Jacobs have closed a deal to put the Galento-Max Baer Finn relief fund fight in the Jersey City armory. Jumping Joe Jackson, the New Mexico Aggie cage star who inherited $50,000, was laid low by the mid-term exams. Joe Jacobs is around town predicting Arturo Godoy will go the route with Joe Louis.

Over the River
Having acquired Roy Cullenbine (batting average .240) the Dodgers now are talking about trading Ernie Koy who hits at a .280 clip. No use to keep good men, you know.

The Giants admit Mel Ott is a hold-out and Bill Terry has turned him over to Horace Stoneham to sign. Sylvan is the best center in the hockey big time, is thinking of quitting the Toronto Maple Leafs after this season to concentrate on politics. National league teams will play 42 night games this summer.

Gregorius, Buesing Pace Junior Varsity

The last half assault saw Buesing get five points and Gregorius six.

VERY little change was made in the standings in the Midwest conference basketball race during the first week of the second semester as Ripon continued to lead with Grinnell closer than a shadow. Coe took two out of three from the Wisconsin members to retain third place. It was the toughest series of the year for the Hawks who played three games within four days.

Carleton, Monmouth, and Knox were idle last week but will find heavy going on Friday and Saturday as the Carls invade Iowa and the Swish takes a stand against Lawrence and Ripon. For Knox it will be the first games under W. H. Saunders who is taking over in place of Coach Dean Trevor while the latter continues graduate study on the west coast.

Of those left to fight it out, Grinnell is favored most by the schedule. The Pioneers, just a half-game out, have half of their last six games on their home floor. Ripon and Coe each must invade foreign courts for three of its final four contests. Carleton is at home for two of its remaining five. Grinnell is the fastest scoring team with an average of 46 points per game while Carleton has allowed but 29 for the best defensive record.

Tony Fears Godoy Will Trim Louis

Two Ton and Manager Figure That the Brown Bomber Has Slipped

New York—(P)—That old cauliflower combination of two-ton Tony Galento and Yussel the muscle Jacob are praying with a great deal of vigor these days.

It's all because heavyweight champion Joe Louis and the Chilean rough-rider, Arturo Godoy, are tangling for the title in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Now, that doesn't seem to add up at first glance, since Tony isn't a part of the first or second part in these festivities. But remember that the barrel-shaped gent has met them both and knows what each can do. And, because of—or in spite of—his four-round showing against the Brown Bomber last June, he is in line for a return shot this summer.

Tony and Yussel, his manager, took a look at Joe's semi-final boxing drill up at the camp's Pompton Lakes (N. J.) training camp yesterday, and that is when the praying started.

"Yee pal," two-ton pointed out, "Joe's in great shape and figures to win this one. But he's slipped back, and I'm afraid maybe Godoy or some other guy is gonna hang one on him before I get a crack at the championship."

"Look," Yussel interrupted, "Godoy is all shoulders and head. No fighter can get a clean shot at him."

The betting men, meantime, weren't taking Tony too seriously. The odds were still 1 to 7 that the bomber would keep right on being head man after the fireworks Friday.

Golden Gloves Elimination Attracting Record Entry; Open Division Boys Good

HERE are a couple guys around Appleton who know how the old woman who lived in a shoe felt about all those kids.

Said guys aren't named Joe for they are those persons in the Appleton Post-Crescent and Oney Johnston Post of the American Legion interested in the sectional Golden Gloves elimination tournament scheduled here Monday, Feb. 12 at Army G. Their difficulty is they have so many boxers they don't know what to do.

Eighty-five boys living in the four counties assigned to the Appleton meet and in Brown county, which was open, have entered the tournament. And while it takes 32 boys to give you one fight in each of the 16 classes, when the total goes over 32 then troubles begin.

Compilation of figures today revealed there are as many as ten boys in a single class in the novice division. If they all show up that class will have four bouts before a winner is declared. In other words, there are 65 boys seeking places on the novice team and 20 on the regular or open division team.

Don't Ask—
Don't ask us at the moment how many bouts there'll be. We can't tell you except that there'll be enough fighting to satisfy everyone from Joe Punch to Molly Mauler. And that's a long, long way.

The Appleton Post-Crescent and the American Legion concentrated on lining up good boys for the open division because that would assure the show of being a success. But the novice division, like Topsy, just grew and yesterday we were looking for something to deter it.

Tom Cahoe, drilling the Appleton contingent, entered 18 boys, 2 of them in the regular division and 16 in the novice division. Previously Nibs Knox of Clintonville had rung the bell with 20 entries. And Leslie Holzer, the Legion's matchmaker, went out and stirred up a few other lads and that accounts for the jam.

As we said, the sponsors of the tournament concentrated on the open division and if you could look over the group you'd find a flock of likely looking fighters more than a few of whom will be on the Green Bay Press-Gazette's regional team to Chicago. If they aren't we're out on a limb with the saw half way through.

Take the 112 pound class. The boys entered are Allan Jewson, Oshkosh, and Jimmy Richardson, Fond du Lac. Nothing wrong with either boy. Bruce Fero has the 118-pound spot to himself. He's an old timer but he deserves the placing.

Class To These Boys
And in the 126-pound class. If there are better fighters than Lauch Chesley, now attending Oshkosh State Teachers college, and Donnie Moonstoot, Green Bay, we'd like to know who they are. The other two entries aren't as well known but they can fight. The lightweight division will show Sam Dobbins, Oshkosh, and Johnny Francisco, Ripon. There's a natural.

The welterweights show four lads at this writing. Hoxy Lamers will be a Little Chute favorite, Edward Troxel will carry Oshkosh hopes, Kenny Thorpe will show for Clintonville and Jerry Gutman for Fond du Lac. Four nice lads there.

Offhand the middleweight class looks like George Steffen, Green Bay veteran, or Jimmy Coyne, Fond du Lac's smart, rugged entry. And Bob Hannes or Rudy Hintz, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac, respectively, may upset them.

The light heavy class will show Smokey Van Bostel, Little Chute, and James House, Oneida, among other boys. Both have aspirations and are likely to have them satisfied. John Dux, rugged Fond du Lac heavy, appears to be the only candidate for that title.

But, as we said, where can you find a better group of fighters. Several of them have won Green Bay gloves titles and a couple others have missed by the narrowest of margins. It'll be their big opportunity.

Tickets for the bouts have been on sale at the usual places for several days. Better make a rush for the nearest place because the ducks won't last long. General admission seats will go on sale Monday afternoon. The general admission seats will be on sale at the armory only.

Green Bay—New faces all along the line appeared in the fifth annual Fox River Valley bowling tournament, following weekend matches at the North Side alleys here.

Bill Schaut, Green Bay veteran, stuck together games of 242, 237 and 213 for a smashing 692, and thus took over first place in the singles.

E. Haase and V. Suess of Neenah, erstwhile leaders of the doubles, were shunted back to third place as A. Fiebig and H. Russell of Oshkosh hit 1251, and the J. Bossart-C. Kennison duo of Madison rapped out 1243.

Similar trouble hit the team leaders, as Schiltz, which posted a leading mark of 2882 last week, was dropped down to fourth place. The current first place squad is Strauss Printers of Madison, first team to top 3000 with a classy 3051 score.

C. Schwogler of Madison asserted himself as all-events leader with a tophheavy 1904.

Next weekend the pins are due for a heavy battering, with bowlers scheduled to appear from Green Bay, Sheboygan, Madison, Appleton, Manitowoc, Jefferson, Mount Horeb, Menasha, Beaver Dam, Sheboygan Falls, Kiel and Kaukauna.

Bob Feller Wires His Speech to Banquet

Cleveland—(P)—Bob Feller was to have been the honored guest at the annual Ribs and Roast show of Cleveland baseball writers last night.

Several hours before banquet time, the Indians' ace pitcher telephoned from Memphis, Tenn., where bad weather forced down an airliner. He expressed his regrets, said he had a speech written out and would telegraph it here. The best quote:

"We feel the Yankees must be beaten some time—possibly this is the year. I am not predicting..."

Speedway Manager Has Never Been Around Track in Racer

BY GAYLE TALBOT
IAMI BEACH—(P)—While the woods are full of men who never have been around the Indianapolis speedway in a racing car, it is surprising to learn that one of their number is T. E. (Pop) Myers, the general manager of the big speed plant.

Though never having met him before in the flesh, I had always had a vague impression that Myers probably took a spin around the brick saucer every morning before breakfast, seeing that the turns were properly banked and generally keeping the place tidied up for the annual Memorial day 500-mile.

"No," said the grey-haired veteran, with finality, "I've never gone around it in a racing car and I never expect to. If a car ever started skidding on one of those turns, and with me in it, I'd be scared to death. I went around the old Sheepshead Bay speedway once back in my youth, and the experience has lasted me to this day."

The man who annually plays host to around 150,000 spectators—the largest sports crowd that gathers in this country—is here accumulating a fan before returning to Indianapolis to plunge into his job. On the day of the race he will have close to 6,000 persons working for him.

Reared within sight of the huge plant he manages now, Myers has been in the racing game practically all his life. He generally is acknowledged to know more about the sport than any living man. The roar of motors and the smell of burning castor oil have been his very existence.

"I'll tell you anything you want to know about racing," he said, "but don't ask me to name the best driver I ever saw, or even the best half-don't. I did that once and I haven't heard the last of it yet."

The most important thing about the Indianapolis race, Myers says, is the part it has played in the improvement of the automobile.

"The next big thing probably will be the use of alcohol for fuel instead of gasoline," he predicts. "A couple of cars used alcohol in the race last year and got good results."

Appleton Kegler Jolts 703 Series In Valley Tourney

Aaron Gehring posted a 703 series on games of 201, 268 and 234 to pace Northwestern keglers of the Elks league to a 2,814 total in the Fox River Valley bowling tournament at Green Bay Tuesday. The team counted games of 895, 985 and 934 to put them fairly high on the list. Chicago registered games of 851, 880 and 934 for a 2,665 series.

In his 268 game, Gehring got eight pins in his first frame, a spare in his second and then jolted 10 straight strikes. He got two more strikes as he started the next game. W. Jacobson bolstered the county with a 224 game and 593 series.

H. Brock pumped a 215 game and R. Loifgren counted 203 for Chicago.

Ski Club Planning Bumper Race Among Its Sunday Events

Appleton Ski club is arranging a program of down hill and jumping events, events featuring junior riders and now a bumper race at Pierce park hills Sunday afternoon.

The bumper race will be something of an innovation. It's a balancing act in which the rider is perched on a seat a couple feet off the ground and tries to direct his barrel stave mount down the slope. Reports are it's a riot for the spectators and a real task for the riders. A successful rider is very, very rare.

Curlers Hold Matches On Pierce Park Rink

Appleton Curling club staged two more matches on the Pierce park rink last night with H. Mathers team beating J. Reagan's team, 16 to 8, and the R. Fallon team, 10 to 8.

Mathers' team showed William McCarville, W. Peterson and C. Schmidt. Reagan's team showed A. Aitken, R. Loppnow and J. Rich-

AMERICA OUT-OF-DOORS

NEVER TOO OLD FOR FISHING

By Buell Patterson

TOO old for football, too old for basketball, too old for baseball, and these days even too old for a job, may be said about many a man, but none can say that any man is too old for fishing. There is a sport that is ageless, and in which anyone can participate.

Athletes legs may go back on them and their eyes grow relatively dim, but their good arms usually hold up and as long as they can grip a rod they can get something out of fishing. That makes fishing the universal sport.

One is never too old to learn how to fish either. That statement goes for the angler who just sits and still fishes as well as for those who go in for the higher sciences of bait casting and fly casting. I have known men who never fished at all until they were well beyond middle age who perfected the art to a fine degree.

One of the best, if not the best anglers I ever knew had never held a rod until he was forty-five, but within a year or two he was giving me pointers I have used with good results, even though I had started fishing about as soon as I could walk.

This angler made a much more serious study of fishing than I had ever done because the wonders of the sport had unfolded to him at a time when he could appreciate them. He realized what fishing could do for him and everyone else who followed it.

Many a man today has spent the major portion of his life in some city battling for the money to keep him alive and to protect his family, and has had no opportunity for vacations in the regions where fishing was available. Such a man may never know the joys of fishing unless someone educates him to them or makes him see that he can be a good angler, no matter how old he is.

The pace of business is fast today. Man needs a period of let-down and can get it in no better way than by fishing. We are gradually getting more leisure time. There is no better way to spend that time than by fishing.

Fishing has all the elements of our best sports in that it puts the skill of the angler against the skill of the fish. When the angler gets to be a veteran it pits the size of his catches (and of his stories) against that of his fellow anglers. Fishing takes real skill, but skill that is not beyond the abilities of any normal person.

The boys who went down to the old fishin' hole and the men who go out on the lakes and streams today are going to live longer and get more out of life than those who never wet a line. Fishing is for everyone.

Appleton Cagers Badly Beaten as Kitzinger Pots 22 Points

Black Creek—Company D cagers of Appleton got tangled up with some Black Creek sharp shooters last night and it wasn't long before they were sending out emergency calls for artillery support, a couple dozen tanks and two or three infantry divisions. The city team launched a devastating attack which resulted in a 55 to 20 victory and the guardsmen retreated, suffering one of their worst defeats in years.

Kitzinger was the hero of the encounter with 11 buckets for 22 points.

'Godoy Maybe Gonna Be Tough,' Says Joe Of Challenger No. 9

POMPTON LAKES, N. J. —Joe Louis hardly views Arturo Godoy as a serious menace but the Tan Thumper is not one to underestimate a rival.

"Any man liable to be tough," Joe says.

Louis has been training at Doc Ebers' camp here for several weeks. He expects to weigh around 200 when he tackles Godoy in a heavy-weight championship go in Madison Square Garden, February 9.

"That Godoy fought Galento two times and Tony never knocked him off his feet," he said.

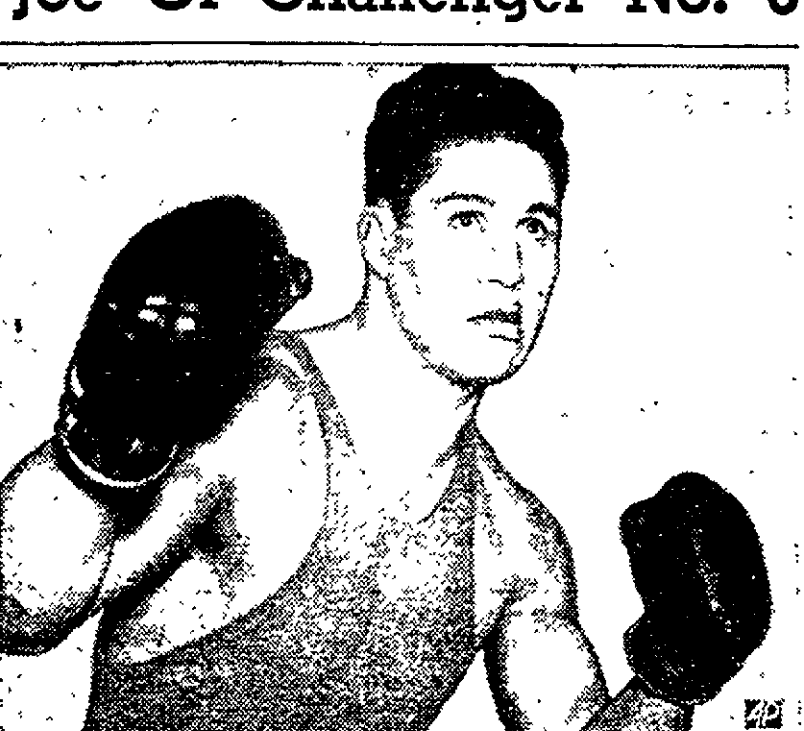

Joe grinned. "Tony sho' had me sitting down, once."

"May Have Some Trouble" "They say Godoy don't hit real hard, but he can take a punch. May have some trouble with him."

Joe was told that Arturo's best punch, like Galento's, was a left hook. And Galento tagged Joe quite a few times with that looping hook.

"Yeah, but Godoy don't punch like Galento," Joe said. "Liable to be dangerous, though."

The fellows around the champion's camp were talking about Gene Tunney's recent magazine piece in which he said that if Louis and Dempsey had fought at Demp-

Waupaca Curlers in Chandler Matches

Waupaca—A curling contest for the Chandler trophy took place here Sunday afternoon, Feb. 4, when four teams from Waupaca played four teams from Waupaca. The following are the scores:

Waupaca	Wausau
Mertenson—9	Zahn—10
Holtz—12	Duncan—6
S. W. Johnson—9	Morrison—11
W. J. Nelson—15	Robertson—15

The Chandler trophy is a silver cup donated by the Farmers State Bank to the curling club in honor of Sam Chandler some fifteen years ago. He was the oldest curler at the time. Four games are played at Waupaca and four games at Wausau to determine where the trophy will remain.

After several postponements Waupaca High school hockey team met Marshfield. In weather that kept most people indoors, the boys journeyed to Marshfield and received a 7 to 1 beating. The only score for Waupaca was made by Bob Hall on a shot from center.

care of fellows who want to challenge me now."

And Joe plans a busy year, with probably four fights just as he had in 1939. After Godoy he'll probably tackle another rival indoors in March or April and then schedule two outdoor fights this summer. Galento likely will be one of his summer opponents along with possibly Bob Pastor or Lee Savold.

TESTED PRISONERS

Twenty years ago, Dr. Joseph Goldberger of the United States public health service studied the death record from the disease called "pellagra" and noticed that it was taking the lives of thousands of persons each year. He decided to do something about it.

Goldberger observed that people who suffered from pellagra were chiefly workers in cotton mill districts. Their food was largely cornmeal, white flour products, polished rice, molasses and fat pork.

Both these dogs were fed four vitamins of the B group, but dog at left grew better because it received "factor W."

"How can I prove that people who eat such food are likely to fall sick with pellagra?" he wondered.

The governor of Mississippi helped supply the answer. He offered a pardon to certain state prisoners who would go through tests. Eleven prisoners agreed to the plan, early in the year 1915.

The men were quite free from the disease when they began to eat the cotton mill workers' diet. Six months later, six of them had light cases of pellagra. The test was ended, and those who were sick were given food which would bring them back to health.

That was only one of several ways in which Goldberger and his assistants found proofs that lack of proper food was a cause of the disease. The food, itself, was not bringing on the trouble—it was the lack of something needed in the diet.

Since then it has been common for hospitals to treat cases of pellagra by giving patients yeast, liver extract and wheat germ oil. The heavy death date of hospital pellagra cases has been ended.

During the past few years, more work has been done on the problem. A Wisconsin scientist, Dr. C. A. Elvehjem, has shown that a certain acid, a B vitamin "factor," can play a big part in curing pellagra.

At this writing, more than a dozen B vitamins or B "factors" are known. In the group is an element now called "Factor W." Tests have shown that it has a great deal to do with growth. In one test, two dogs were fed exactly the same food except that one had Factor W, while the other did not. The one with Factor W in its food grew larger and six pounds heavier.

One or more of the B vitamins may be obtained from many foods. Yeast and liver are most richly stored with B vitamins and factors.

Huebner Herd Is Highest Producer In Testing Group

Averages 44.2 Pounds of Butterfat During Last Month

The Huebner Bros. herd produced an average of 1,237 pounds of milk testing 3.5 per cent or an average of 44.2 pounds of butterfat to lead January production in the Outagamie County Dairy Herd Improvement association, No. 2.

Edwin Lemke's herd was second with an average of 39.2 pounds of butterfat. Third place went to the Earl Hughes herd with 38.2-pound butterfat average. The Ben Bollinski and Victor Thern herds were fourth and fifth with averages of 33.9 and 31.7 pounds of butterfat.

The high producing cow was in the Huebner herd. It showed 72.6 pounds of butterfat. Third and sixth places also went to cows in the same herd on productions of 64.3 and 62.4 pounds of fat. A cow in the Edwin Lemke herd produced 70.3 pounds for second place. Cows owned by Edward C. Rahmlow were fourth and fifth with 62.7 and 62.6 pounds.

Following are owners and numbers of cows producing 40 or more pounds of butterfat during the period: Edward C. Rahmlow 4, Louis Timm 3, Frank Drinks 4, Arnold Lemke 4, Huebner Bros. 16, Ben Bollinski 8, Edwin Lemke 5, Earl Hughes 7, Emil Schultz 5, Gust Henn 3, Julius Pohl 2, Paul Ashmann 4, Henry Haeberlecker 1, H. State Barley Crop Has High Quality

Estimates Show Value of 1939 Production Was $11,973,000

Wisconsin's 1939 barley crop of more than 224 million bushels was worth nearly 12 million dollars, according to crop reporting service estimates received by County Agent J. F. Magnus.

The quality of Wisconsin barley ranks high for brewing and malting purposes and in recent years a larger part of the crop is again being sold for commercial purposes.

Although there has been some decrease in the state's barley production since the record crop of 1939, more barley has been harvested in the past few years than during most of the years in the past three decades.

Estimates show that the value of the 1939 barley crop harvested in Wisconsin was $11,973,000 compared with an estimated value of $12,872,000 for the 1938 crop. About 22,910,000 bushels of barley were produced in the state last year, which is about equal to the quantity shown in the 10-year average of 1928-37.

In addition to a greater demand for barley for malting and brewing purposes, there has been an increase in barley production for feed. Wisconsin farmers in some sections have found barley a better crop in recent years than some of the other small grains.

Seed Laboratory Busy With Tests Last Month

Night and day work shifts were the rule at the state seed laboratory last month, with more seed samples received for test up to the close of the month than ever were sent in by that date in previous years according to information received by J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agent.

Approximately 800 more seed samples had been tested for purity and germination by Jan. 31 of the present year than for a corresponding period in 1939, according to Henry Linsner, inspector in charge of seed and weed control for the state department of agriculture.

Most of the samples were sent in by county dealers and farmers. Seed offered for sale is tested for a fee of 25 cents per sample.

The tests are made to inform farmers regarding the quality of seed they intend to sow and to furnish seed dealers and vendors with information necessary to insure proper labeling of seeds.

Magnus Will Give Radio Broadcast On Milk Program

Wisconsin farmers have an opportunity to learn more about the quality milk improvement program of the state department of agriculture and the college of agriculture through 5-minute radio sketches being given three times a week over WLBZ, the department of agriculture's radio station at Stevens Point. County Agent J. F. Magnus will give a discussion Feb. 15 on the progress being made in Outagamie county, the first county in the state to adopt the program. The broadcasts are made at 12:55 Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. Magnus will show the reaction of farmers and plant operators of this county to the program; results of methylene blue and sediment tests made at dairy plants and steps being taken to follow up these tests.

State Has 1,917 Cheese Factories

More Than Fourth of Farms in Wisconsin Furnish Milk to Plants

Wisconsin cheese is made in more than 1,900 dairy plants in the state, according to a crop reporting service bulletin received by J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agricultural agent.

Over 365 million pounds of cheese were made by 1,917 dairy plants in Wisconsin in 1938—about three pounds of cheese for each person living in the United States. More than a fourth of the farms in Wisconsin furnish milk to cheese factories. Estimates show that almost a third of all the milk produced in the state—from 10 to 12 billion pounds annually—is used in the manufacture of Wisconsin cheese.

Figures of Wisconsin dairy manufacturers are submitted annually by the plants to the Wisconsin Crop Reporting service. The amount of butter, cheese, condensery products, and other dairy products made by more than 3,000 dairy plants in the state last year is now being reported to the state and federal governments.

Dairy plants making cheese in Wisconsin have increased considerably in size in the last two decades, but there are not as many plants. In 1921 there were 2,775 plants making cheese and the average production per plant was 107,652 pounds. In 1938 the 1,917 plants averaged 190,514 pounds of cheese.

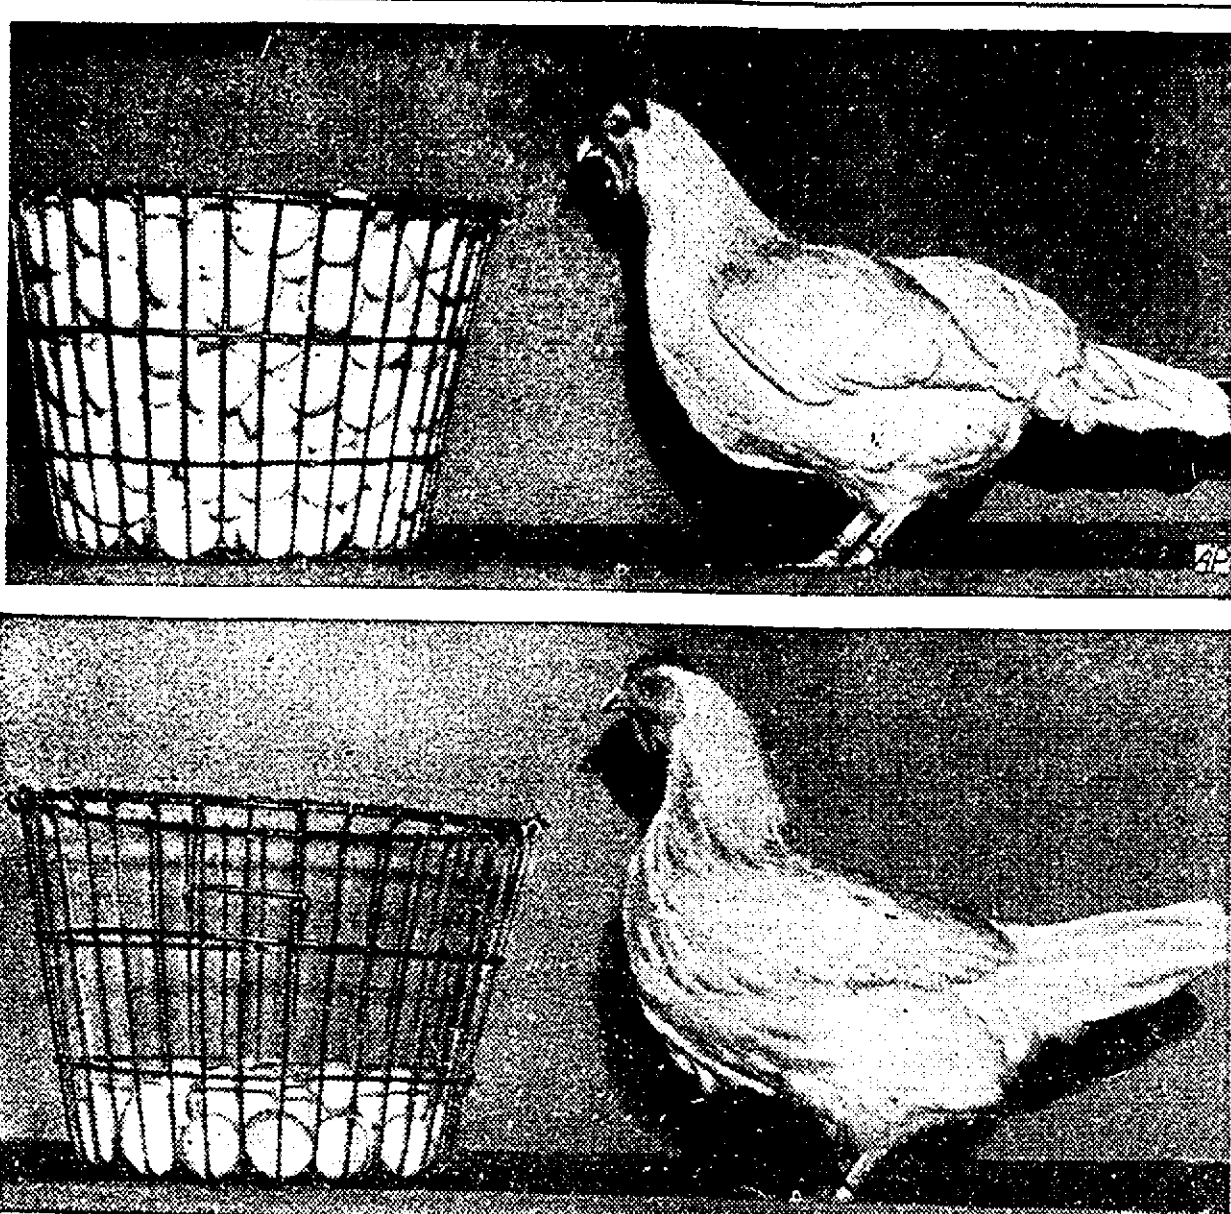

Report on Progress of Dairy Promotion Plan

Producers of a combined annual butterfat production amounting to well over two million pounds joined the dairy promotion program of the Wisconsin Dairy Industries association during the last week of January, according to reports received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

Signing agreements to contribute to the association's voluntary fund for promoting the consumption of dairy products were 13 dairy organizations, each pledging a contribution of a half cent per pound on butterfat delivered during the month of August. The combined annual production of all signers to the program thus far totals about 70 million pounds.

Izaak Waltons to Hold State Division Meeting

A state division meeting of the Izaak Walton league will be held at Manitowish Thursday and Outagamie county is expected to be represented at the meeting. The Manitowish chapter will hold a dinner in the evening, and a feature will be a Washington birthday cake. C. G. Stangel, state president, will be in charge. Mayor Herman C. Runge of Sheboygan and Kenneth A. Reid of the national headquarters will be the speakers.

LONG-LIVED POULTRY STRAINS MORE VALUABLE

Records of these two hens, both mated to the same male, are cited by the Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station to show that long-lived poultry strains are more valuable than short-lived strains. Of the 14 chicks hatched by VPI 650, all nine daughters lived to lay eggs. Their average production for a year was 206 eggs (shown in full basket). VPI 661 hatched 25 chicks, but so many of them died that the average egg production of her daughters was only 39 (shown in other basket). The difference between the two birds is attributed to the longevity records of the two strains, since both hens had approximately the same number of female baby chicks.

Breeds Poultry to Find if Longevity Is Family Trait

BY BEN HARDY

Blacksburg, Va.—You can't count your chickens before they hatch, but perhaps you can be sure they have a family tree worth crowing about. Dr. Reece L. Bryant, of the Virginia Agricultural Experiment station, is trying to find out.

To determine whether longevity is a family trait in poultry as in man, he undertook a breeding experiment two years ago that may continue for another five years or longer.

"We have not yet proved that we can produce longevity by breeding," Dr. Bryant says, "but there are definite indications that way. Our records tend to show that livability is a family proposition, and that chicks hatched from older hens live longer than those of one-year-olds."

If Dr. Bryant proves that scientific selection can develop poultry strains with longer life span than others, his research will be valuable in persuading poultry breeders to keep records of family strains as well as of individual birds, and in increasing the income of poultrymen by extending the average egg-laying lifetime of their hens.

The most important result to date is finding that there is less mortality among the offspring of older birds than of pullets. Dr. Bryant thinks this is because weak birds—those of inherently short-lived strains—have died out in the older flock and left a select group capable of transmitting the desirable trait of longevity.

The study began with 562 chicks from year old hens and 905 from hens three to five years old. Seventeen per cent of the chicks of the year old hens died as chicks, and only 14 per cent of those of older hens. At 12 weeks of age the males were discarded. After the pullets were housed, at five months of age, 22 per cent of the daughters of the year olds died and only 19 per cent of those of older birds.

Dr. Bryant has divided the birds into a high mortality and a low mortality group, both fed and managed the same way, as a check against each other.

In the high mortality group only 31 per cent of the housed pullets from older hens died as compared to 37 per cent from year old hens. In the low mortality group, six per cent of the pullets from older hens died and eight per cent from year olds. The conclusion is that chicks

Prices on Farm Products Higher Than Last Year

Demand Continues Good Despite Downturn in Industrial Production

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington — The demand for farm products, measured by volume and price, continues good, despite the recent downturn for industrial production, the bureau of agricultural economics announces.

Large quantities of farm products are moving into domestic consumption at prices averaging higher than at this time last year. Cash farm income in the early months of 1940 is expected to exceed income in the same months of 1939, although the purchasing power of farm products will continue below pre-war, it is stated. The ratio of prices received to prices paid by farmers is about 20 per cent below the pre-war average of 100.

Products not sharing in the higher prices this winter, compared with last, include tobacco, hogs, poultry, and eggs. The supply of tobacco is the largest on record, and the European export market has been shut off; the 1939 pig crop was the largest in 16 years; and pro-

Reports Evidence of Corruption at Miami

Washington—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, has announced that his staff found "evidence indicating local graft, collusion, and inefficiency" in the Miami, Fla., area.

This charge and another that police authorities of the resort failed to cooperate with the justice department's investigation, were made before a house appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public today.

Hoover said his staff found that in the Miami Beach police department there were six officers with previous police records and that some of them had served time. Although this was made known to the department, he said, these officers continued on the force.

"We have good reason to believe," Hoover added, "that the operations of confidence men in the Miami area are carried on at least with the knowledge of some law enforcement officials."

duction of poultry and eggs has been unusually heavy this winter.

Unfavorable to livestock producers, generally, is the relatively high price of feed, it is said.

More cows are on farms this winter than last, the cows being fed liberally, and milk production is expected to continue in large volume. Higher prices of dairy products have partially offset feed costs.
